

2d. Daily Mirror

BIGGEST BARGAIN.

See Page 2

No. 210.

Registered at the G. P. O.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 6, 1904.

One Halfpenny.

ON TO LHASSA.

War Against Tibet Begins in Earnest.

ROMBARDMENT REGIIN

Enemy Stubborn—Severe Fighting Is Expected.

HOW THE TROUBLE BEGAN.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

GYANGTSE, Tuesday.

The Tibetan delegates have refused to come to the Mission headquarters to resume the durbar and decline to evacuate the jong, as called upon by Colonel Younghusband.

A bombardment was therefore commenced. A force of infantry has moved out north.

The attitude of the enemy is truculent, and severe fighting is expected.

LHASSA OUR OBJECTIVE.

This message from our correspondent yesterday shows that war with Tibet has begun in earnest.

"The expedition must go to Lhassa," said Colonel Younghusband to the Tibetan envoys or Saturday-and to Lhassa it will doubtless go. But before that mysterious city can be reached it will have severe fighting, and still more severe climbing to do.

Never before has an invading force marched through such a savage, inaccessible country. Never before has nature so combined with the defenders to fight against invaders.

The whole of the fighting will be done 12,000ft. above the sea, and even from that elevation gigantic snow and ice-covered peaks spring up on every side of the track, giving splendid over to the mountain fighters. At every turn there will be stone forts thousands of feet above the invaders to be stormed. The ground over which the expedition has already passed presented stupendous difficulties, but the remaining 120 miles between Gyangtse and Lhassa is even more difficult.

OUR BRAVE ENEMY.

And though the Tibetans are ill-armed, they have a number of rifles, probably obtained from Russian sources, and have shown themselves capable of desperate valour. Colonel Younghusband has a stupendous task before him. Gyangtes is 12,000 feet above the sea-level. Lhassa, built in a small plain surrounded by great mountains, is a little lower. But the expedition will have to cross two great rivers, and the passes entering the plain in which the sacred city of Tibet lies are strongly guarded by forts. Not since 1840, when two French missionaries visited it, has a European entered the city of the Dalai Lama. No Englisher has been there since 1840 small shapes and the city of the control of the control of the city of the first of the control of the control of the city of the lines are the state of the control of the city of the lines of the control of the city of the lines of the control of the city of the lines of the control of the city of the lines of the control of the lines of the control of the lines o

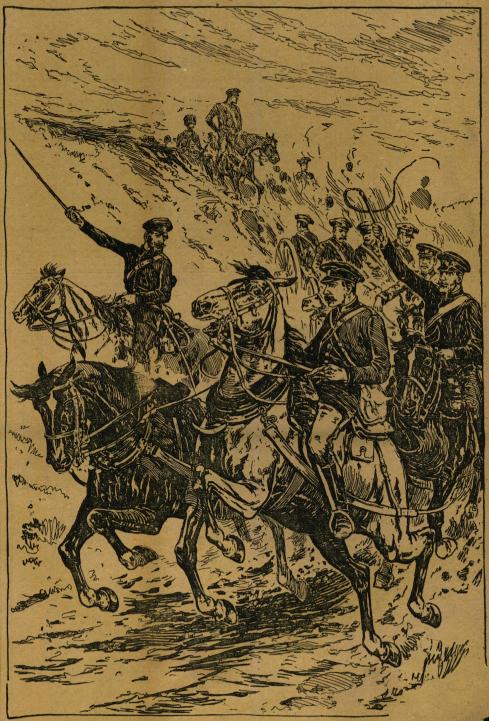

MARCHING ABOVE CLOUDS.

MARCHING ABOVE CLOUDS.

Marching above the clouds, on "the roof of the world," to its most mysterious city, the expedition will have an experience that is beyond the dreams of the most gifted of imaginative writers.

Its purpose is well known. In November last came news of a reported secret Treaty between Russia and the rulers of Thibet. The Muscovite was plainly told that if any European State was to hold sway in Tibet it must be England. Then a peaceful expedition to remind Tibet of its Negotiations delay treated with contempt and later it was oppolished by the proposed of the prop

GUNS ESCAPE WILL. THE Russian Battery in a Tight Corner in the Mountain Passes, with Japanese in Full Pursuit.

BIRTHS.

ETTELL.—On July 4, 1904, at 8, Neville-terrace, Onslow-gardons, S.W., the wife of Captain R. V. G. Brettell, ist Bn. East Surrey Regt, of a daughter. MINGTON.—On July 4, at Bombay, the wife of James Halliday Symington, of a son.

BETROTHAL.

MARRIAGES.

DEATHS.

ECHER.—On July 4, in London, Frances Mande, wite of Colonel Andrew C. Becher, late Commanding Lit Battasion Norfolk Regiment, and Aller Commanding Lit Battasion Norfolk Regiment, and Mandel Colonel Regiment, and Bundeston, Smith (1998). The Colonel Regiment Col

MUGGINGS. Write Grey, Poste Restante, Southend-on-Sea N.—Received last letter, no others. Please address as stated.

DISTRICT RAILWAY,—Will tall gentleman appoint meeting?—CORNISH WOMAN.

BITON, London, 6.18, Friday.—I, too, would like see nis. Cannot we meet Wimbledon?—Amused CATLER.

SHIPPING, TOURS, Etc.

NORWAY, SWEDEN, and RUSSIA.

NORWAY, SWEDEN, and RUSSIA.

WILSON LINE. Free-class ROYAL MAIL and Saloons and Sisseping Accommodation ambidities.

SPECIAL ROLLIDAY TOURS from LONDON and HULL,
Apply to THOS. WILSON, SONS, and CO., Ltd., Hull, Galially and Co., 51, Pail Mail; Cool's, Ludgate-circus; or Bott and Co., 1, East India-avenue. E.C.

AMUSEMENTS.

HAYMARKET. TO-DAY at 3 and 9.

Proceed at 2.30 and 8.30 by THE WIDOW WOOS.

MATINEE EVERY WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY, 2.30.

IMPERIAL THEATRE, Mr. LEWIS WALLER.
TO-DAY at 5 and EVERY EVENING at 9.
MATINEE WEINERDAYS and SATURDAYS at 3.
MATINEE WEINERDAYS and SATURDAYS at 3.
Preceded at 6.15 by A QUEEN'S MESSENGER.

CHAFTESBURY.

TO-DAY at 2.15. EVERY EVENING at 3.15.

M. Henry W. Savage's American Co. 16.

MATINEE TO-DAY THE FURTY AUGUSTAN AND ASTORDAY at 2.15.

MATINEE TO-DAY THE FURTY AUGUSTAN AND ASTORDAY at 2.15.

EXT OFFICE 10 to 10.

GT, JAMES'S.—Mr. GEORGE ALEXANDER.
LAST 9 NIGHTS.
LAST 9 NIGHTS.
FINAL and 300TH PERFORMANCE, PHIDAY, JULY 15.
At 3 and 9, SATURDAY TO MONDAY.
By arderick Fenn and Richard Proc.
At 2.50 and 5.50.
By 6 O MR 2 HUMB.
LAST MATINEE TO-DAY (Wednesday), at 2.50.

THE OXFORD. — HACKENSCHMIDT (at 10,55); LONEY HASKELL the famous American Monologist, VESTA TILLEY, Gos. Mozzr., Clark and Sisters Devons, and other start. Open 73.0 Box Office open 11 to 5, SATURDAY MATINEES at 2.50—Manager, Mr. ALBERT GILMER.

CRYSTAL PALACE. TO-DAY.
GREAT SPORTS EXHIBITION.
GROAT SEGULARY, School Sports.
IN THEATGOOD SEGULARY, School Sports.
IN THEATGOOD SEGULARY, School Sports.
A CASE FOR EVICTION. and "THE NEW SIT HIRM MASTEWARD, Plying Machine.
Band of H.M. Coldstream Gunds, C.P., Milliary, Band, Water Chule, Rapids, Topy-Turry Railway, and other

ks by Messrs, C. T. BROCK EVERY THURSDAY Y. re Pictures of the Russo-Japanese War. Luncheons and Dinners in the new dining-ners the grounds. Mesers. J. Lyons and Co. by appointment.

TO-DAY'S NEWS AT A GLANCE.

Our special weather forecast for to-day is: South-westerly breezes; fair generally; cloudy at times, with a few local showers. Lighting-up time: 9,16 p.m.

Sea passages will be moderate on all

More severe fighting is expected in Tibet. The peace delegates refused to evacuate the jong and a bombardment was commenced.—(Page 3.)

Interest in the Anglo-American agitation to secure a free pardon for Mrs. Maybrick is rapidly reviving.—(Page 3.)

THE WAR.

THE WAR.

There has been a severe struggle for possession of the Motienling Pass, which commands the road to Liano-yang. Three times the Russians attacked the enemy, only to be repulsed on each occasion. Finally they were defeated, and pursued by the Japanese a distance of four miles. The Russian losses were thirty killed and fifty wounded, and the Japanese about half that number.—(Page 3.)

At Port Arthur it is said that only one mile separates the armies outside the fortress. At Dalny, the Japanese have recently landed 150 big guns.—(Page 3.)

GENERIAL.

The "guillotine" motion of Mr. Balfour for closuring the Licensing Bill in compartments was carried by 55. As a protest against being closured Mr. Crooks asked to be suspended. The Speaker had no power to do so.—(Page 3.)

Wild stories have been circulated in Berlin of the Crown Prince's attentions to Miss Geraldine Farrar, the beautiful opera singer.—(Page 5.)

Mr. Balfour, in a telegram to Lord Bingham, referred to the "unworthy methods" of the Radicals in Chertsey in publishing scandalously misleading statements on Chinese labour. Polling takes place to-day.—[Page 4.]

Motor accidents, fatal and otherwise, during the last eighteen months make a distressingly long list.

—(Page 4.)

—(Fage 3.)

Eighteen competitors have now entered for the new Mirror non-stop motor trials, and the Automobile Club has been asked to give the competition its official sanction.—(Page 13.)

Gorgously attired, the Alake of Abeokuta, who leaves England this week, received a number of Bishops and others at a farewell "At-Home" at Westminster Palace Hotel.—(Page 4.)

Descending from his lofty fortress James Gill, the Newry steeplejack, disguised himself in woman's clothes, and spent a day at home un-molested by the police.—(Page 5.)

Pigott, the "Clapton Messiah," has fled from his Spaxton retreat on a mysterious mission.—(Page 4.)

For having bigamously married Mrs. Shapley, a widow, from whom he obtained £700; George Staney Crawley, alias Stanley Curtis, was committed for trial at Greenwich.—(Page 5.)

For overworking girls over a dress wanted for Ascot Races, Madame Nina Clare, a Court dressmaker, was at Westminster fined £23 2s. on seven nummonses.—(Page 13.)

Nelson's gold watch and seal, and gold sword-hilt, stolen from Greenwich Hospital in 1900, have been found in a concertina belonging to William Alfred Carter, the young sailor in custody.—(P 4.)

Owing to lack of proof that the victim of the crime was dead, the charge of murder on the high sea against Girolamo Callenducci, an Italian, was withdrawn at Winchester, but for shooting with intent to murder a sentence of fifteen years penal servitude was passed.—[Page 5]

The chief races at Nottingham and Salisbury were won by Mr. L. de Rothschild's Catgut and Mr. Musker's Warrior, respectively.—(Page 14.)

Playing in the Gentlemen v. Players match at Lord's, King in the second innings again made a century, thus equalling R. E. Foster's record of our years ago.—(Page 15.)

Henley Royal Regatta commenced yesterday. Heats in the first rounds were decided. The weather was dull and there was a poor attendance. —(Pages 5 and 15.)

FINANCE.

On 'Change markets were again unsatisfactory, in spite of the release of dividend moneys and encouragement from Lombard-street. A new Colonial issue and a coming Japanese loan are not keenly looked forward to. Consols and the gilt-edged market closed above the worst. Home Rails, on the whole, were dull. Canadian Pacifics were helped by traffic returns. Kaffirs were sold, but raillied before the close. West Africans and Westrallians were rather better.—(Page 6.)

THE CHARING CROSS BANK. Est. 1870.

119 and 120, Bishousasteet Within, E.C. } London.
and 28, Belfordest, Charing Gross, W.C. } London.
Assets, £597,790. Liabilities, £225,680. Surplus, £312,110. ½ per cent. allowed on current scooning the control of the contro

HOUSES AND PROPERTIES.

Houses, Offices, Etc., to Let.

EAST COAST (Mundesley).—Furnished Cottage; 40s.

CHOOL HOUSE (furnished, seaside) to let part of D'August and September.—Mistress, Trusthorpe, Mableinorpe.

Land, Houses, Etc., for Sale.

SIXPENCE a day for five years will enable you into possession of a house worth £300 in any Apply, mentioning "Daily Mirror," to J. J. Gre 72, Bishopagatest Without, Lendon, E.C.

To Motorists and Others-Stylish detached VI sold, freshold, £1.600 sintand close to r

PARTNERSHIPS AND FINANCIAL.

Beneficial Creatizate & Lundo.

DANS - 222 and upwards; repayable monthly, by post.

DANS - 222 and upwards; repayable monthly, by post.

MNEY advanced to Householders and others; 25 to be possible to the second of the second sephose, 1,755 Central.

25 to £1,000 Advanced to householders and others or approved note of hand; no sureties required; trade allis discounted on shortest notice; strictly private annificantial—Before borrowing elsewhere write or call or chan lender, J. Vincent, 14, Jelington-green, Islington

HOLIDAY APARTMENTS TO LET

Proprietress.

E ASTBOURNE—Gardener, 72, Tideswell-rd; Apartments, near sea; contral; moderate terms; envelope.

GERAT YARMOUTH—Garibaidi Hotel for gentlemen; moderate terms; liberal table.—Powell, Proprietor.

SHANKLIN.—"The Children's Paradise"; holiday home offered in tutor's house.—Gerston, Shanklin. BOARD RESIDENCE & APARTMENTS.

A PARTMENTS (superior); board optional; excellent cuisine; extremely clean; bath; terms low.-25, Coram-st, Brunswick-sq. BEDROOM, for gentleman; 6s.-146, Vauxhall Bridge-rd, Victoria.

D Victoria.

FULIAM.—Well-turnished double, bed-sitting room; 16s. weakly.—96. Munitered.

HUMBERS of Munitered.

HUMBERS of Munitered.

HUMBERS of Munitered.

HUMBERS of Munitered.

Jay 10 of Municered.

Jay 10 of Munic

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

A mested offer—464, Herrowed.

B 164, 64, per month; second from the rest of the mested offer—464, Herrowed.

B 164, 64, per month; second-hand planes, short horizontal grants, from 254, upring t grands, 176, 64; cottages, 168, 66, to 13a, per month on the 3 years' system—C. Styles and Co., 74 and 76, Scotthampton-two, London, W.C.

VALVABLE Violia; must sell; marvellous sole tone; labelied Straduvarian Screenom, 1600; service, 1864; approval skillingly.—Mrs. Tyler, Rockingham, Uxbridge.

EDUCATIONAL.

CHAPHAM HOUSE COLLEGE, Ramseste,—Founded 94 Yanza:—High-class school for the sons of gentlement, to the 1st VSA E.R. II. "The Buffe II', union school for keys under 13; 45-saje illustrated prospectus sent on VGCALISES, Innists.—Well-known Professor receives few manteurs as Pres Pupils to train professionally; par-ticular post from -Professor, 65, 83, Pauli-vG. Highbury. wamateurs as Free Pupils to train professionally; par-ticulars post free.—Professor, 85, 8t. Paul's-rd, Highbury. WANTED, address of professor of music advertising les-sons anywhere in London, 21s. term.—Write 1272, "Dally Mirror." 45, New Bondest, W.

MOTORS AND CYCLES.

CYCLES, Accessories; astounding bargains; catalogue free. D. Symonds' Stores, Ltd., 128, City-rd, London

Bargain Sales

NOW PROCEEDING. This announcement brings joy to the hearts of our feminine readers. Bargain sales mean getting something for much less than it is worth. There is one suitable for ladies and gentlemen-a FOUNTAIN PEN for 2/6. These pens are being sold at this bargain price by the proprietors of the "Daily Mirror" to advertise this publication.

"DAILY MIRROR" FOUNTAIN PEN in 3 sizes of Pen Nibs,

2/6

MEDIUM, BROAD. State Plainly on Coupon which style you prefer. CUT OUT THIS COUPON, fill in, and post to PEN DEPARTMENT,

The "Daily Mirror,"

2, Carmelite Street, London, E.C.
I enclose P.O. for 2s. 74d., for which please send
"D.M." Fountain Pen to NAME..... Address.....

SEND SIXPENCE MORE and we will also send you a PEN POCKET CASE. You may purchase the pen at the West End Office for Small Advertisements of the "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond Street, W.

LONG BATTLE FOR MRS MAYBRICK

Dr. Forbes Winslow Joins the Agitation for a "Free Pardon."

FIFTEEN YEARS OF HOPE DEFERRED.

Talk with the Famous Physician Who Presented the Reprieve Petition

There are unmistakable signs of a rapidly reviving interest in the Anglo-American agitation to obtain a free pardon for Mrs. Maybrick, whose fifteen years' penal servitude has now reached the

She goes free on the 31st instant, the fifteenth

She goes free on the 31st instant, the fifteenth anniversary of the opening of her trial in 1889, at Liverpool, on a charge of poisoning her husband, James Maybrick, by systematically mixing arsenic with his medicines and food.

Dr. Forbes Winslow, the famous psychologists, who has always been a firm believer in the innocence of Mrs. Maybrick, writes to the Mirror expressing his gratification at the prospect of such a petition being laid before the King on behalf of the "victim of an unrighteous and unjust verdict."

dict."

It was Dr. Winslow who took charge of the general petition in 1889, and personally presented it at the Home Office, where other Maybrick petitions had been arriving from all parts of the country daily, including one got up by the "Lancet" and a special memorial from members of the House of Commons.

Dr. Forbes Winslow, who presented the great national petition which secured Mrs. Maybrick's reprieve in 1889. He thinks the Anglo-American agitation for a free pardon will succeed.—(Photograph by Bassano.)

WHAT MEDICAL MEN THINK

Dr. Winslow had not been an hour gone from the Home Secretary's presence, when the terms of the reprieve were published, in which occurred the unexampled phrase:—

The evidence tends to show that the death by poisoning, and does not conclusively show that the death was caused by arsenic.

by posoning, and does not conclusing allow that the death was caused by arsenic.

When acting as chairman of the Psychological Branch of the International Medico-Legal Congress in America, Dr. Winslow was publicly thanked by the Judges in the law courts of New York for what he had done on Mrs. Maybrick's behalf.

Interviewed yesterday, Dr. Winslow said he had canvassed 600 medical men on the Maybrick verdict, and exactly 599 of them hold that it was unjust. They mostly believed that the free pardon now asked for ought to have been substituted for the reprieve fifteen years ago.

"I absolutely affirm my belief in Mrs. Maybrick's innocence," said Dr. Winslow, "and so did the late Lord Russell of Killowen.
"One of the last acts of Lord Russell was to send the Baroness de Roques, Mrs. Maybrick's mother, low house to ask me to co-operate with him in trying to get Mrs. Maybrick active the said of the co-operate with him in trying to get Mrs. Maybrick released.

CRITICISING THE JURY.

Touching upon the Briefly, incident, which Judge Stephen cited as supplying a motive, Dr. Winslow said the jury possed as moralists, and ignored the vital issue of the poisoning by arsenic. They failed to discriminate between the moral and the criminal law-Sir Francis Jeune's Court and the Liverpool Assizes Court, so to speak.

"The jury could by no means be considered a scientific one. It was composed of two plumbers, one wood-turner, one provision dealer, a glazier, a grocer, ironmonger, painter, milliner, baker, and two farmers. A Southport paper published a statement that one of the jurymen could not read his ment that one of the jurymen could not read his own name."

Dr. Winslow recalled the scene in London and the country when the verdict became known. It staggered the people, who, with one accord, in cities, towns, and villages over the length and breadth of the land, raised such an indignant pretest as never clamoured at the doors of the Home Office before or since on behalf of the victim of a miscarriage of justice.

He rejoiced—and tens of thousands would rejoice with him—that this outery, which had never quite died down throughout these fifteen years, was again to swell in volume, craving for the last possible consolation, in the form of a free pardon from the King, on behalf of a woman who was convicted and incarcerated "without one tittle of evidence."

DEAD MAN'S DRUG HARIT

DEAD MAN'S DRUG HABIT.

For the enlightenment of the younger generation, Dr. Winslow rehearsed what took place at the Great Cannon-street meeting in London, which was attended by 5,000 influential citizens, all of one mind in regard to the injustice of the verdict.

"I told the vast audience," said Dr. Winslow, "that shortly before Mr. James Maybrick died he had administered to himself a number of poisonous drugs, with a view of dosing, as was his custom. Each of these drugs was in itself, if taken to excess, sufficient to produce an inflammatory condition of the internal organs, irrespective of arsenic.

"I also drew special attention to the apathy of the jury in not asking one single question during the whole six days of the trial. Besides, I read a letter from a chemist, which appeared in the 'Times,' stating that it was his custom to make up prescriptions for the late James Maybrick's death, Dr. Winslow instanced the fact that twenty-one irritant poisons were administered to the patient within six days previous to his death, actually prescribed by the medical attendants. Among these drugs might be mentioned nux vomica, henbane, jaborandi, cocaine, morphia, and even arsenic itself in the form of Fowler's solution.

WAS IT A BLUNDER?

"MAS IT A BLUNDER?

"Mrs. Maybrick was convicted of poisoning her husband because the doctors found a fractional grain of arsenic in the body; whereas the amount of arsenic medicinally prescribed would more than account for the amount found after death.

"With the administration of the drugs I have mentioned it was not surprising that symptoms of gastro-enteritis should have been present before and after death.

"But here we are to-day still hammering at the authorities for a free pardon. Legal blunders, when officially made, are not easily rectified. It is always difficult for those in high office to admit making a mistake, but if there ever was an egregious blunder committed it was in the refusal to grant Mrs. Maybrick a free pardon after the decision of the Home Office, who, from their own wording in the reprieve proved her innocence.

"That free pardon must yet come. If Mrs. Maybrick was entitled to it in 1880 she is infinitely more entitled to it now, as she steps out across the threshold of her exile, after fifteen bitter years of hope deferred."

FIGHT FOR MOUNTAIN PASSES

Japanese Repel Three Attacks with Great Spirit.

General Kuroki reports a hand-to-hand struggle for the Motienling Pass, but, after the Russians had delivered three assaults, they were driven back, and pursued for four miles.

The following official telegram, dated Tokio, vesterday, has been received at the Japanese Legation in London :-

General Kuroki reports :- At dawn of July 4 under cover of a thick fog, two Russian infantry battalions attacked our outposts at Motienling, trying the assault three times

After severe hand-to-hand fighting, our outposts repulsed the enemy, and pursued them four miles westward. The casualties on our side were fifteen killed and thirty wounded, including one officer. The enemy left on the field thirty dead and fifty wounded.

ARMIES FACING AT PORT ARTHUR.

CHIFU, Tuesday.

Chinese who left Port Arthur on Sunday say that on Saturday the armies outside Port Arthur were separated by only a mile. The Japanese were advancing from hill to hill, on all of which they were placing big guns. They are said to have landed 150 of these guns at Dalny.—Reuter's Special Service

SENSATIONAL RUMOUR.

There was a report current yesterday of a battle in which thousands of Russians had been killed, including General Keller.

The "Petit Parisien" says it is probably a canard, while a "Matin" message says the news appears to gain confirmation.—Exchange Telegraph Company.

GUILLOTINE FALLS

Mr. Balfour's Motion for Closure Carried.

A LORRY "CONSPIRACY"

The heated discussion of Mr. Balfour's "millo tine" motion providing for closuring the Licensing Bill in compartments ended yesterday at half-past

Bill in compartments ended yesterday at half-past seven.

A series of Opposition amendments had been in turn rejected, and the Premier, amidst cries of "Oh 10 h!" proceeded to move the closure, which was carried by a majority of sixty-four.

The division on the Licensing Bill closure resolution was then about to be taken when Mr. Crooks addressed an original request to the Speaker. As a protest against being closured he asked to be suspended at once from the service of the House.

The Speaker explained that he had no power to do so. It was for the House to do so, but he hoped Mr. Crooks would not show disrespect to the Chair or the rules of the House.

Almost plaintively the member for Poplar asked, "What can one do, then, when closured down?" In reply, the Speaker hoped the hon, member would see that what he was doing was merely acting obstructively to the House. Mr. Crooks then rose from his seat and walked into the Division Lobby.

Lobby.

The figures of the division resulted as follows: For the resolution Against Government majority 205

During the discussion of the first amendment of the day, an attack was made on Mr. Balfour by Mr. Whitley, who had convinced himself that he had discovered a Government plot. Mr. Lloyd-George had moved the omission of certain words by way of a protest, and Mr. D. McIver had replied.

SUSPECTING A CONSPIRACY

SUSPECTING A CONSPIBACY.

After this had been rejected and Mr. Yoxall had brought forward a second amendment, Mr. Whitley charged the Prime Minister with having put up Mr. McIver on the preceding amendment to speak against time.

To this Mr. Balfour gave a decided "No." Mr. Whitley said that at any rate he saw Mr. McIver and Lord Balcarres in the Lobby, and they went up and spoke to the Prime Minister.

Mr. Fitzalan Hope suggested that it was about a private Bill.

private Bill.
Mr. McIver replied: Yes, the Mersey Dock and Harbour Bill.

Harbour Bill.

Mr. Whitley congratulated the Prime Minister.
He said he thought there must be some connection between the Mersey Docks and the celebrated warming-pan.

A request-from the Speaker that Mr. Whitley would be relevant and discuss the amendment in a business-like way closed the incident.

A DELABOR INTO WEDGE

A RBLAPSE INTO VERSE.

In course of subsequent discussion Dr. Hutchinson entertained the House with the recital of some lines of verse which he considered appropriate to the occasion. A facetious reference to the closure resolution sent the House into roars of laughter. Dr. Hutchinson said he was surprised at the laughter, for every honourable member when he turned ill would not want Prime Ministers and Colonial Secretaries. No, the one man he would want would be a medical man.

God and the doctor all men adore, When sickness comes, and not before; When health returns and things are righted, God's forgotten and the doctor slighted.

ENGINE TURNS SOMERSAULT.

North Wales Excursionists' Marvellous

Escape.

Elecape.

A startling accident occurred shortly before eleven o'clock yesterday morning on the London and North-Western Railway branch line from Llandudno Junction to Blaenaufestinog.

The fast excursion train from Llandudno to Bettwsy-coed, while going at a good speed, suddenly-left her rails. The train consisted of seven coaches drawn by a tank engine, which then ran a few yards along the sleepers at a curve, and then went down a low bank to the right into a wide dry ditch, where it turned completely round and dived head foremost into the boggy soil.

One of the carriages, consisting of two passenger compartments and a brake compartment, jumped the metals and turned over just beyond the ditch on to the approach to an accommodating crossing between two fields.

All the coaches fell over to the left metals, one of them mounting up almost upon the metals, and of them was the most damaged.

It was then found that the driver had sustained a broken thigh and various other injuries.

The train is a very popular one during the Llandudno season, and is generally well filled, but the morning being wet there were only six passengers in the train, all of whom were unhurt. The guard in the rear of the train also was unhurt.

SEVENTEEN MORE SAVED.

Norge Survivors Picked Up Off St. Kilda

WITHOUT FOOD OR WATER.

Five Sailors and Twelve Passengers Rescued at the Last Moment

The Press Association's Aberdeen correspondent.

telegraphing this morning, says:—
"The steamship Largo Bay arrived at Aberdeen last night having on board seventeen persons who were picked up off St. Kilda on Monday morning and who are survivors of the wrecked emigrant ship Norge

"The survivors include Ankersen, third mate, Olsen, lamp trimmer, Hannibal Christensen, Matvos Morgensen, quartermaster, and steward's Matvos Morgensen, quantifinaster, and statement assistant Nor and twelve passengers."

In an interview with a Central News representative one of the survivors said that six boats with tive one of the survivors said that MN boats with about 150 persons got away before the steamer foundered bow first. His party left the ship along with two other boats, in one of which was the first mate, who gave them two buckets of fresh water and two biscuits per man.

On this they subsisted for six days.
They parted company with one of the boats on Wednesday night, and with the other on Sunday evening, at which time their supply of water was exhausted.

evening, at which time their supply of water was exhausted.

The boat had no sail and had to be navigated with oars in a gale and heavy sea. They bore away towards St. Kilda, and hoped that some passing steamer might observe them.

A sail was formed out of lifebelts, but progress was very slow and very dangerous. Ankersen, the third mate, says that along with his boat were other boats, one with thirty-two people, including several women and children, another with fifteen men in charge of the second mate, and there was also a craft with ten men on board.

They parted company with the other boats, and were about thirty miles west of St. Kilda when the Largo Bay picked them up.

They were suffering terribly from hunger and thirst, but every care and attention was paid-to them on board the liner.

THREE CHILDREN DEAD

A Stornoway correspondent telegraphs that three of the children rescued from the boats of the Norge died in the workhouse infirmary on Monday, and three others are in a dangerous condition. The bodies of the little victims were buried yesterday amidst general manifestations of sympathy. The gunboat Leda, now doing fishery protection duty in the Shetlands, and the Scottish Fisheries Board steamer Jackal have been ordered to search between the Outer Hebrides and the scene of the disaster for the missing boats of the Norge.

SPLENDID ROY HEROISM

Magnifeent was the heroism of one Norwegian boy, a lad of seventeen, who seeing as the Norge was about to founder that their was room for only of the seed of the again.

The Grimsby Danish Consul is sending a steamer from Stornoway to Rockall, St. Kilda, and Flannan Islands, to search for the distribution of the distribution o

DOWIE'S "GOSPEL FLEET."

NEW YORK, Tuesday.

Dr. Dowie announces he will take the "restora-tion host" to London, in a fleet of gospel ships. Six thousand Zionites have signified their intention

Dr. Dowie says: "We will knock at the door of overy house in London, including the palace of the King, and give them the message of Elijah in Restorer."—Laffan.

DEATH AND THE CAR.

Automobiles Claim a Long List of Victims.

WHAT SHOULD BE DONE?

The sad death of Sir William Rattigan, M.P. for North-East Lanark, who was killed in a motor-car accident at Langford, on Monday night, is the nected with the advent and growing popularity of Lady Rattigan was vesterday reported somewhat Medical examination showed that Sir William Rattigan's neck was broken.

Lady Injured in Sussex.

At Rotherfield, Sussex, the car of Mr. J. W. Taylor, of Carshalton, was being backed at the Taylor, of Carshalton, was being backed at the top of a steep hill when it got beyond the control of the driver, and ran down the hill backwards at a high speed, ultimately striking on a bank and overturning. Mr. Taylor and the driver escaped unhurt, but Mrs. Taylor, who fell under the car, sustained a fracture of the jaw and internal injuries.

She was carried to Holme Park, the seat of Mr.

T. R. Elliott, where she now lies. She has been visited by Sir Victor Horsley and her father, Sir James Crichton-Browne, who are hopeful of her Appended is a list of accidents, fatal and otherwise, dating from the beginning of 1903 and covering a period of eighteen months, culled from the columns of the daily press.

It need hardly be pointed out that the list is far from being complete, for the reason that a very large number of motor accidents, more or less serious, do not get into the papers at all.

There is obviously great need for improvement, ene way or another, in the driving of motor-cars. Whether these sad happenings be due to excessive speed, flaws of construction, careless or incompetent driving, need not here be discussed. It is, however, obvious that if the industry is to flourish and automobilism to extend among us, something must be done to make the pastime compatible with greater safety to the general public and motorists themselves.

Appended is the black list:—

KILLED, UP TO JULY, 1904.

Mrs. Rathbone, at Cannes, Jan. 29.

Mrs. Rathbone, at Cannes, Jan. 29.

Child anned Newman, at Eastbourne, April 1.

Emil Richards kills cyclist, April 12.

Emil Richards kills cyclist, April 12.

Sunderland boy, April 28.

Orrezia, at Marseilles in race, May 17.

Miss Barrett, near Hendon, May 20.

Three deaths, June 24.

Herv von Specht, at Nassau, June 28.

Sir W. Rattigan, at Langford, July 5.

KILLED IN 1903.

George Colebrook, at Hendon, Feb. 9.

Dr. Robinson, at Putney, Feb. March 24.

Contr. Zborowski, at La Turbie, April 2.

L Alderson, at Leeds, April 2.

L Alderson, at Leeds, April 2.

Elizabeth Magee, killed by Marquis Downshire,
April 15. KILLED, UP TO JULY, 1904.

Adderson.

Limbeth Magee, killed by Marquis Downsme,

C. Wroughton, April 20.

Sam Tole, in Marylphone-road, April 21.

Jenry Elkes, at Boston, June 1.

Jankeeper, at Vanna, July 8.

Alger, Cleer, and Charles, on Sunrising Hill, July 28.

Alger, Cleer, and Charles, on Sunrising Hill, July 28.

Alger, Cleer, and Charles, on Sunrising Hill, July 28.

Child, at Gloucester, Ang. 1.

Woman killed by R. C. Knights, Aug. 17.

Amerbury man, Aug. II.

June Maryl 19.

June 19.

Jul

W. Smith, injuries near Lambeth, Dec. 15.
ACCIDENTS.
W. Smith, injured in Hyde Park, March 19.
Lord Downshire knocked woman down, March 90.
Wallace party injured, April 1.
Mrs. F. Worthington, Monte Carlo, April 4.
Fon Viller and Marquis Delmonte, injured, April 6. ord Alan Percy, Hon. Poasonby, and Major Russell, smah, May 11.
Leavasa, Vidence, May 20.
emit de Rothschild, June

June 13. arrinaga runs over ragpicker, June 24. ames Wickham, June 30. Ir. and Mrs. Marshall Roberts, July 1. room and polo ponies run down near Wimbledon, w, motor rushes into Clyde, July 3. Vanderbilt, July 8.

1. Hillieary, thrown from motor-cycle during trial, its Kolhison, thrown from horse at Sutton, July 23, otor runs into siver at Bale, July 27.

ulton and Smith drive into canal, July 24.

Canasayon, driver hajured, Aug. 5.

Canasayon, driver hajured, Aug. 5.

Canasayon, driver hajured, Aug. 6.

Canasayon, driver hajured, Aug. 7.

apoleon Hayaed, Aug. 31.

nocked down in Hyde Park, Sept. 5.

listerick motor and camera, Sept. 17.

kennic party, Oct. 2.

ady Oranmore, pinned under car, Oct. 3.

colessor Somenhurg, runs over little girl, Oct. 13.

ir F. Winnington, motor in mill race, Oct. 21.

and Kennic party, Oct. 2.

and Kennic party, Oct. 2.

Sept. 21.

Sept. 22.

Sept. 23.

Captain W. Adams, serious accident, Dec. 15.
Owen Tudor and Sheemburg, leap for life, Dec. 31.
12044.
Greenwood and Hancock, Jan. 2.
Sultan's uncle injured, Feb. 44.
Leoping the loop, at Lausanne, March 21.
Harrow, car upset on hill, April 4.
Car crashes into wagonnette, April 5.
Hampton Court, three injured, April 9.
Prince Frederick Leopold of Prussia, April 9.
Madstone, Collision, April 17. Prince Frederick Leopold of Prusia, April 9.
Horley, April 15.
Maidstone, collision, April 17.
Maidstone, collision, April 17.
Woman hurt in Chelsea, April 19.
Woman hurt in Chelsea, April 19.
Wedding breakdown, April 28.
Croydon, street collision, May 2.
Boessy, train runs into motor, May 3.
Boessy, train runs into motor, May 3.
Haydon and party injured, May 24.
Haydon and party injured, May 24.
Haydon and party injured, May 24.
Major-General Colville, collides with pony, May 25.
Viscount Hampden, car weeked, June 29.
Car overturned at Caerleon, June 22.
Car overturned at Caerleon, June 22.
Mr. Beddington, near Chelmsford, June 24.
Mr. Rodville, Dorking, June 29.
Car loverturned at Caerleon, June 20.
Car between two tramcars, June 30.
Car between two tramcars, June 30.

RELICS RECOVERED.

Clever Discovery of Nelson's Watch and Sword Hilt.

Two of the Nelson relics stolen from Greenwich Hospital in 1900 have at last been recovered.

Nelson's gold watch and seal, and gold swordhilt, were found by Chief-Inspector Arrow in a concertina belonging to William Alfred Carter, the sailor lad who is in custody.

Till last week the circumstances that shrouded the crime were unknown, and the police had given up all hopes of tracing the relics.

up all hopes of tracing the relics.

The collection, a national one, consisted of a gold watch, seal, gold box, enamelled portrait, a number of sword-hilts, and seven medals, of the value of £5,000, and were owned by the Admiralty. It now transpires that on June 27 two packages were left by a man in the cloakroom of Customs House Railway Station and had not since been called for. Suspicion was aroused, and on Tuesday the luggage was handed over to Detective-Inspector Arrow, who, on examining one of the packages, a portmanteau, found among its contents a concertina.

a concertina.

A mark at the side of a screw in the instrument, as if a screwdriver had slipped, decided the inspector to take the concertina to pieces, with the result that inside he found carefully packed the missing gold watch and gold sword-hilt.

FOR JERUSALEM'S BLIND.

King and Queen Witness Tableaux at His Majesty's

His Majesty's Theatre presented a wonderful appearance last night, when the entertainment organised by the Grand Priory of the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in aid of the British Ophthalmic Hospital at Jerusalem was witnessed by the King and Queen.

A bevy of beautiful women exquisitely posed ook part in a series of tableaux representing the installation and prowess of the Order.

Among their number were Lady Annesley, Lady Tweeddale, Lady Sybil Grey, and Lady Maitland

The most striking pictures were the Birth of the Order, A.D. 1000, representing the merchants of Amali ministering to the Pilgrims at Jerusalem, and the final scene of the Restoration of the Order in 1557, where Queen Mary, surrounded by her Court, is regranting the charter to Sir Thomas Ivenham, Lord Prior Designate.

Between the pictures, selection of music contributed by Calve, Suzanne Adams, Albani, Ada Crossley, and Kubelik made the intervals seem all too short, and an act from the "Merry Wives of Windsor" was a great attraction in a programme crammed with good things.

In addition to the Duchess of Saxe-Coburg, Princess Christian and her daughters, Princess Henry of Battenberg, and Princess Ena of Battenberg were present. The most striking pictures were the Birth of the WEST END PALMISTRY FRAUDS.

Fortune-tellers in the West End are being watched by the police, under instructions from the Home Secretary.

This information was given by Mr. Cochrane yesterday in the House of Commons in reply to a question by Mr. J. Campbell. He had called attention to the frauds perpetrated in connection with the practice of palmistry, crystal-gazing, and clairvoyance.

EXCURSION TRAIN LEAVES THE RAILS.

A Llandudno express excursion train to Bettws-y-coed left the rails near Llanrwst yesterday after-noon and was partially wrecked. The driver and stoker were injured, but no lives were lost.

"MESSIAH'S" FLIGHT.

Leaves His Country Retreat on a Mysterious Mission.

Our special correspondent at Spaxton tele-graphs: The Clapton "Messiah" has fled from the "Abode of Love," but his present whereabouts are a mystery. Whether he is in London at the Cedars, Clapton, hiding somewhere in the west country, or gone under an assumed name on to the Continent is at present unknown.

At the Spaxton retreat the faithful are rejoicing that the "Lamb" is delivered from the clutches of those who wished to interview him and argue out questions of doctrine of those who wished to interview him and argue out questions of doctrine.

The known facts are these. Vesterday morning, in the early hours before even the Spatton rustics had iisen, Pigott and his wife, assisted by the disciples, were busy making preparations for a secret even from the energy and the experimentation was kept a secret even from that the devoted inmates asked to what address their future prayers should be directed, for the "Messiah." mysterious as ever, randered to the "Abode of Love," and into this the "Lamb" and his wife crept.

After the outposts and scouts had passed the word along that no prying eye observed the retreat twenty young ladies, early aroused from their couches, came to the gates to bid farewell to their departing leader, and the coachman, one of the Abode servants and a member of the Agapemone, whipped up his horses.

The carriage took a circuitous route over the hills in the direction of Taunton, from which station it is believed he took train. There was an impression that he was bound for London, but nothing is certain. "Our master has left this place to do his work," was the only reply vouchsafed to my inquiries.

ALAKE'S "AT HOME."

Dusky Monarch Holds a Farewell Reception.

The Alake of Abeoukuta, who leaves England this week, was "at home" yesterday afternoon at the Westminster Palace Hotel.

the Westminster Palace Hotel.

He smiled in the most affable way at the distinguished company which had accepted invitations, and watched with pleased interest the rapid disappearance of the sandwiches and strawberries and cream which he had provided for his guests and cream which he had provided for his guests.

Among those who exchanged compliments with the Alake were the Archibishop of Canterbury and Miss Randal Davidson, the Dean of Westminster, Colonel Stopford, the Bishop of London, Archideacon Sinclair, the Bishop of Ely, Viscount Knutsford, and bir William and Lady Cranston.

The majority of the visitors were ladies; some of them coloured. Some of the English ladies chung to the royal black hand, and, in the hope that they could converse with him without the aid of an interpreter, addressed the Alake in very loud tones, laying strong emphasis on every syllable. But in every case the Prince, in thunderous guturals, called arrayed in a gorgeous gold-embroidered robe, of which the ground was purple velvet, and no his head wore a turban.

He folloyed the conventionalities in providing the usual "At Home" refreshment, but it was remarked that he partook of more himself, and it was because none of his favourite dishes were represented.

KILLED AN INSULTING PRISONER.

When Francis Loveridge, a former private in the 4th Gloucester Regiment, was charged at Ciren-cester with threatening a present member of that corps, the magistrates heard a tale of the Boer war. This regiment guarded the Boer prisoners at St. Helena, and Loveridge shot at and killed a prisoner who attempted to escape. He was exonerated, and afterwards discharged as a harmless lunatic, with a pension of 2s. a day.

He now stated, in allusion to this circumstance, that the Boer had called him "a mad militiaman."

He was bound over to keep the peace.

LOST EIGHTEEN SITUATIONS.

When a boy of seventeen was charged at Brentford with sleeping out it was alleged that:—
He had not been seen by his parents since Whitsmitide; he had eighteen situations, and lost them all in five months; he had been charged at Mariborough-street with begging; he ran away from home when very young and went to Manchester; he told a foreman at Carter Paterson's, in order to get work, that his mother was just dead and buried, and that he was alone in the world; and that he always spent his wages before reaching home.

PECULIARITY OF TRUNCHEONS.

Dr. Barton, of airship fame, who was injured by an explosion at the Alexandra Palace on Monday, is making excellent progress towards recovery.

CHERTSEY FIGHT.

Polling To-day in the Chinese Election.

BALFOUR'S MESSAGE.

Chertsey wore an air of calm yesterday, reserving itself for the delirium of to-day's polling.

It was suffering from a sort of political repletion and indigestion. The election was a subject of which most ordinary people were utterly tired.

There was no escaping the colours of the candidates. Do what you would you saw either the purple and yellow of the gallant Lord Bingham, who not only served his country in South Africa but has local claims, or the Liberal blue of Mr. Sadler.

All for Bingham.

In the town ladies, motor-cars, dogs, babies, and horses seem to support Lord Bingham in a whole-hearted way, while Mr. Sadler's colours carried principally by bicycles and men with argumentative chins.

carried principally by bicycles and men. The last evening of the active campaign saw something which nearly resulted in a free fight. In Chertsey two opposition open-air meetings were proceeding side by side. Almost before anyone knew what had happened, one prominent politician had handsomely offered to pull the nose of another. Instantly blows were exchanged, and the audiences willingly ceased to take an interest in the fiscal question or Chinese labour.

Mr Balfour's Message.

Mr. Balfour's Mossage.

Mr. Balfour, in a telegram yesterday afternoon to Lord Bingham, wishing him success, referred to the deliberate fiction spread by the Radicals.

"I learn with great regret," he said, "that no efforts have been spared in the campaign against you to mislead large sections of the electorate on the subject of Chinese labour by recourse to most unworthy methods.

"Grave, indeed, is the responsibility of those who seek to override the wishes of our fellow-countrymen in the Transvaal, and bitter will be the resentment they will excite against his country on the part of the white inhabitants of that colony.

"Your opponents are the very persons who, by their tactics, throw every possible obstacle in the way of passing a measure this Session which will exclude undesirable aliens from the shores of this country."

SECRET CLUE.

Development in the Search for a Lost Husband.

After a week's weary trudging about in a fruit-less search for her missing husband, Mrs. White, who is in a delicate state of health, has completely broken down. Her plight is a pitiable one, for her purse is empty, and her widowed mother, who is in straitened circumstances, cannot provide her with adequage sunnor!

with adequate support.

One of the last things Mr. White did before he went away was to buy his wife a complete outfit of baby clothes—everything except the christening-robe. Nothing will convince her that his disappearance, with £3,700 in his possession, is a appearance, with £35,700 in his possession, is a voluntary one.

Mrs. White has had two visits and one letter from a strange man, who declares that he has an important clue towards finding the missing husband. The man hails from Tottenham, and claims to have recognised Mr. White in Hampstead on the day he went to look at some vacant houses there. In his letter he requested the grief-stricken wife to keep everything secret.

M.P.'S MOTORING PRIVILEGE.

While admitting at Mariborough-street Police Court yesterday that he had driven his motor-car on the wrong side of a refuge in Regent-street during the early hours of the morning, Mr. Louis Sinclair, M.P., explained that he did so because the other side of the road was occupied by a large hose with which the street was being cleaned. Moreover, he contended, as a Member of Parliament, he was privileged to go on the wrong side of the refuge.

the refuge.

Constables in the vicinity of the House of Commons, he said, made Members of Parliament go on the "off" side of the refuges in order to facilitate their ingress and egress to and from the House.

Mr. Denman said with regard to this that no doubt it was a very useful police regulation made in the interest of M.P.s. but it did not apply in this case because Mr. Sinclair, after leaving the House, went and had supper at his club, where he remained for some time. There would be a fine of 20s. and 2s. costs.

The father of a young man named Charles Parr, who was remanded at Clerkenwell yesterday on the charge of stealing a bicycle from outside a public-house, told the magistrate yesterday that his son had been left a large sum of money by his grandfather. It had been the ruin of him, and he fish not done a stroke of work since.

Steenleiack De Wet Disguised in Woman's Clothes

A SPIENDID FARCE

The latest story of James Gill, the Newry police-defying steeplejack, reads like a scene from the "Merry Wives of Windsor."

The chimney-stack was deserted on Sunday; he was spending the day of rest in the bosom of his family. The adventures he met on the way have just come to the Mirror representative's knowledge.

It appears Jamie determined to visit his home again, and, before doing so, put scouts out both front and rear. He had not gone far, however, when the scout in front signalled danger. Jamie had scarcely got the warning when he saw two of his natural enemies, the police, coming along. Down the street was impossible, for the scout there was giving the "caution" signal, and in any case Jamie could not run with his injured leg.

Ruse Worthy of De Wet,

An inspiration struck him just as all appeared lost, and he darted into a house, the door of which was standing open, and got behind the door. The police came on down the street, and spoke to two girls at the door behind which Jamie stood concealed.

Galed.

Jamie listened quietly to the talk until at length the constables moved away and the girls entered the house.

Jamie they knew and liked, and, seeing him in distress, they took pity and solved the problem of his season. A black skirt and a shawl were soon produced by them, into the mysteries of which they instructed Jamie.

At last, huddled up like Falstaff in the witch's clothes, the steeplejack shuffled out of the house and pursued his way.

Jamie Courted by Soldiers.

But a more ridiculous experience yet was in store for him. Two soldiers saw Jamie, and, pro-bably imagining they had met him (or her, rather) before, one of them saluted him with, "Hallo, Molly."

Jamie did not reply, shrewdly guessing his voice would hardly pass muster. He therefore assumed an air of insulted virtue; and tried to pass on with an indignant shake of his beshavled head.

But the second soldier, who had not spoken, was not to be outdone, and pft his arm caressingly round Jamie's neck. The disguised steeplejack was in a fix, for the soldier began pulling at the shawl to draw it away from his face, but, rising to the occasion, he gave his admirer a mighty and most unfeminine push with his shoulder, which sent him sprawling, leaving him the most surprised man of the three.

This adventure over, the steeplejack made his way home, where he spent, a honey section.

man of the three.

This adventure over, the steeplejack made his way home, where he spent a happy evening, returning to the citadel the following morning.

NO PROOF OF DEATH.

Singular Reason for Withdrawing a Murder Charge.

Murder Charge.

A murder charge at Winchester Assizes yesterday collapsed in a remarkable manner, owing to the inability of the prosecution to adduce legal proof that the victim of the crime was actually dead.

During the vöyage of the steamship Arabistan from Brooklyn to Monte Video an Italian named Girolamo Callenducci, employed as a trimmer, shot dead Frank Rosleich, a donkeyman, with a revolver, and also wounded four others of the crew. When the ship reached Bahia a naval court found Callenducci guilty of wilful murder, and sent him to England for trial.

But the Treasury have been compelled to withdraw the murder charge since the only persons who saw Rosleich die were the doctor and a nurse, and neither of these witnesses can be brought to England. This has made it impossible for death to be proved legally, as no one else had even seen the murdered man's dead body.

When the case came before him yesterday, Mr. Tustice Ridley agreed that counsel had no option but to withdraw the charge. A charge of shooting with intent to murder was then proceeded with, and Callenducci, who pleaded guilty, was sentenced to fifteen years' penal servitude.

KING'S HAMBURG HOST DEAD.

HAMBURG, Tuesday.

Dr. Hachmann, the Chief Burgomaster of Hamburg, died last night.
Dr. Hachmann took a prominent part in the reception of King Edward on his Majesty's visit to this city last week, and during the procession through the streets had the honour of driving in the first carriage with the King.—Reuter.

SLUR ON THE ARMY.

Seventy-two members of the London Co Seventy-two members of the London County Council decided yesterday that no space could be allotted in London for two guns taken from the Boers and the Chinese.

Captain Swinton moved an amendment that the decision cast a slur on the British Army, but only secured thirty-two followers.

" MERRY WIVES" TO DATE SORROWS OF THREE WIVES.

in the Divorce Court

Three ladies who had been unfortunate in their matrimonial experiences obtained the decrees that Two of them were granted divorces, and the other decree of restitution of conjugal rights.

Mrs Margaret Eliza Lowe Wright, a pretty. young woman, who, one could hardly believe from er youthful appearance, was married as far back her youthful appearance, was married as its back as the year 1889, was the petitioner for what the Law calls "W.R.C.R.," or an order that her husband should return to her.

Her husband, Dr. H. E. Wright, formerly practising at Birkenhead, deserted her in 1902, and then she wrote the following letter to him:—

then she wrote the following letter to him:

I have been thinking how stupid we have been with our lives, and for the sake of all of us I will overlook the past. I am now prepared and desire to live with you as your wife. Let us try and row together in the same boat again.

—Your would-be loving wife, Margaret.

But the doctor did not respond to this appeal, and Mrs. Wright was obliged to have recourse to the Divorce Court, which grayted an order yesterday that her husband should make a home for her.

"W.R.C.R." Did Not Suffice.

"W.R.C.R." Did Not Suffice.

Mrs. Mary Le Bois Holden has already been a petitioner before Sir Francis Jeune. Some time ago she sought and obtained a decree of restitution of conjugal rights.

Her husband, however, has not complied with that decree, so yesterday she asked for a dissolution of her marriage.

Mr. Holden, after his desertion of her, had been found living with another woman in Bloomsbury. Accordingly a decree was pronounced on the grounds of desertion and misconduct.

Riverside Incident.

Riverside Incident.

Cruelty and misconduct were the grounds on which Mrs. Mary Hamilton Roland Gordon, the third fair petitioner, obtained her decree. Married in 1903, she found that her husband almost immediately treated her badly, and on one occasion, when she was baling out a boat at a riverside house where she was staying, he abused her and pulled her away, bruising her arm.

Afterwards he was discovered going to a Covent Garden ball with another lady.

In her case, too, a decree nisi was granted.

ICED HOLIDAY TRIPS.

Tourists Start on a Tour in the Arctic

A few years ago the idea of a pleasure trip within the Arctic Circle would have been laughed to scorn. In a few days, however, it will be an accomplished fact.

The new departure has been brought about by the enterprise of the P. and O. Steam Navigation Company.

To-day at two p.m. this company's steamer Vectis will leave Tilbury on a pleasure cruise, and, proceeding via Norway, will eventually penetrate within the Arctic Circle.

The Vectis, the old Rome, has been specially fitted up for this service, and has, in fact, been practically rebuilt.

Her accomposition, is for one hundred and fitter.

nited up for finis service, and has, in average practically rebuilt.

Her accommodation is for one hundred and fifty passengers. For this, her maiden trip in her new capacity, about half that number have booked. The cruise will last just 3.

The cruise will last just 3.

Various plant of interest will be visited en various plant of the various plant of var

SAT ON A LADY.

At Leeds yesterday a labouring man, Tom Lister, was summoned for having interfered with the comfort of a lady trancar passenger. Lister boarded the car, and sat on the lady's knee, and, when she protested, he coolly laughed at her. Defendant, who pleaded that he could not help it, was bound over.

RAILWAY MAGNATE'S FORTUNE.

The estate of the late Mr. James Staats Forbes, for many years chairman of the South-Eastern Railway Company, has been proved at £135,000. Among the bequests the Railway Servants' Orphanage benefits to the extent of several thou-

TORPEDO-BOAT FOR £26.

Warships were cheap at Portsmouth yesterday. A third-class cruiser, the Cordelia, realised £6,700, and the Scout £4,000. The torpedo-huke Diligence went for £420, and three Coastguard cutters fetched £155, £200, and £240 each.
Six torpedo-boats went for from £26 to £67.

WIDOW'S LOST WEALTH.

by a Bigamist.

Before meeting George Stanley Crawley, alias Stanley Curtis, a widow, Mrs. Johanna Grieg Shapley, stated at Greenwich Police Court yeserday she was perfectly independent, but had since been so reduced in circumstances that she had to obtain a situation as housemaid and lady's Crawley, who is alleged to have bigamously married Mrs. Shapley, and also to have obtained 2500 from her by false pretences, was committed for trial.

for trial

An actor named Francis Binstead stated that in 1898 Crawley, who at that time passed under the name of George Hastings, married his sister, who is still alive. According to Mrs. Shapley's story she made Crawley's acquaintance at Torquay in 1902. He said he was an actor, a single man, and that was going to form a theatrical ompony. She became engaged to him, and advanced him about £30 prior to their marriage at the registry office at Bath. Altogether he obtained £700 from r.

The prisoner, in answer to the charge, said that his theatrical speculation had been successful
rs. Shapley would have had her money back.

FAT BOY'S BACE

Johnny Trundley Wins After a Spirited Contest

Long will the story be told in variety-stage athletic circles how Johnny Trundley, aged five years seven months, the mighty fat boy of Peckham, won the fifty yards race at the Music Hall Benevolent Fund Sports.

For many weeks past it has been a question eigerly and even heatedly discussed in variety-stage wings whether Little Dando or Johnny. Trundley is the better man—or should it rather be said phenomenn?—at fifty yards. In order to settle this question for ever it was arranged that the two champions should race one another at this distance—walking.

Walking, in contradistinction to running, was decided on in deference to Johnny's weight.

The Peckham fat boy stripped—yet it is hardly right to say that the stripped, for he wore during the race a large man's-sized suit of tweed dittoes—at list, The Decket tool. For many weeks past it has been a question

Tate a large man sested out to weed undoes—at 11st. 7b.

Little Dando stood on a mark ten yards behind, Johnny—the handicap had been carefully calculated—when the pistol went off.

After thundering along for twenty-five yards, Johnny during a brief moment faltered. It seemed as if he was about to fall, and the ground man shouted, "Catch him! He'll make a hole in the track!" But Johnny only hesitated while he got his second wind. He came again and won a marvellous race by inches.

"Dando was a good second, Johnny a fat first," was the judges' verdict. The latter looked every ounce a champion as he returned to his chair.

MAY YOHE'S HUSBAND.

Committed for Fourteen Days on a County Court Summons.

Yesterday, in the Westminster County Court, an application was made to Judge Woodfall for the committed of Colonel Strong for unon-payment of a judgment debt for flowers supplied. Plaintiff said defendant was the husband of Miss May Yohe, and was quite in a position to pay at once.

In the absence of the debtor his Honour made an order of committal to prison for fourteen days an order of committal to prison for fourteen days in default.

Colonel P. Bradlee Strong, son of the late Mayor of New York, achieved notoriety in this country a couple of years ago by running off with Lady Francis Hope, better known as Miss May Yohe. Lord Francis afterwards obtained a divorce from Miss Yohe.

CURED AFTER TWENTY YEARS.

More Marvels of the Scotch Miracle Worker.

Worker.

Worker.

Worker.

The tale of William Rae's successes at Bolton continues with each day's list of patients. Sufferers wait upon him from all parts, as far south as Surrey, oblivious of the ballot that has taken place. They arrive without tickets, and on being told they cannot see Mr. Rae before September, in Scotland, their disappointment is keen.

Among yesterday's cures was a little girl from Manchester, who had suffered for some years from dislocated hip, and had lad to wear a high-heel boot. After the girl had seen Mr. Rae the father joyfully remarked that he was going out to get ler a pair of ordinary boots.

A notable case was that of Mrs. Sedden, of Bolton. She had, it was said, been lame for twenty years from an affection of the hip. She wore a special boot and walked with a stick. After her visit to Mr. Rae her husband carried her discarded stick and clubbed boot.

DULL DAY AT HENIEY

Their Unhappy Experiences Told Her Story of Heartless Deception Poor Attendance and Very Little Enthugiagm

PIVERSIDE CHARACTERS

It was dull at Henley vesterday,

On Paddington Station business for the special trains was bad. A sad-faced ticket inspector said he "didn't want to see another opening day like this." The newspaper boys shouted "Official programme. Programme!" sedulously, but without the real ring in their voices, which brisk sales alone bring. Similar pessimism was noticeable at Henley itself.

One aborigine of the Thames Valley said. "Yes, it is bad; I never see it so quiet

A picturesque tramp, in a frockcoat that hung upon him by a miracle, leaving no doubt as to the colour of his shirt, and trousers ragged enough to have been a god-send to a music-hall artist, pulled his large khaki sharpshooter hat over his eyes and squatted with a grunt on the grass at the water's edge. "What's the use er shoutin' land ere, when there ain't no one to land.

Eton's Win

A few minutes of enthusiasm came when the Eton boys eight walked away from New College. Their schoolfellows, who were in force from end to end of the course, cheered them to the ccho. Indeed, stroke and No. 7 in the college boat would give a good account of themselves in any compared to the course, the college boat would give a good account of themselves in any compared to the course of the give a good account of themselves in any company.

Later in the day, when the Brummagem four made simple stuff of Magdalene (Cambridge) in the Wyfold Challenge Cup, there was some excitement in a small area. A Jack tar in a Canadian cance nearly fell out, his joy was so excessive. He waved his paddle at a merry-looking, spectacled, legal gentleman in the next boat. "Called 'em Brummagem, didn't you? he grinned. "I didn't come all the way from Birmingham to see'm lose. Hooray!"

One man alone failed to solve the correct costume question. He kept his immaculate top hat concealed between his knees.

The pretients sight was two old parsons, in canonicals, but with their coats off, who rowed a lady up and down in a skiff. Unadulterated joy lit up their faces. They were back again to the "Varsity days of their youths. They would have liked to spring a rattle and shout.

BLUSHING CROWN PRINCE

Kaiser's Son and the Beautiful Opera Singer He Adores.

"Do you like your milk warmed, little one?" was a gibe from the singers at the Berlin Opera against Miss Geraldine Farrar. It arose because her mother accompanied her behind the scenes, and as the other ladies all asked that their relations and as the other ladies all asked that their relations might come too, the director probibited Miss Farrar's mother from entering the theatre.

Out of this petty squabble arose the world-wide reputation of Miss Farrar as the lady who has captivated the Crown Prince of Germany.

Miss Farrar appealed to the Emperor, who took her part and chivalrously invited her to the Palace. Here she met the Crown Prince, "a great, big, blushing, stammering boy," who had eyes for no one else.

blushing, stammering boy," who had eyes for no one else.

The infatuated youth applauded her extravagantly at the Opera, and sent his card behind the scenes, with fulsome congratulation.

The wild stories that were circulated about the Crown Prince and his yows to marry her, his quarrels with the Emperor, and the threats of organised opposition to her performances caused her to leave Berlin, as she said, for ever.

The Emperor gave her a dimond brooch, and with this mark of the Imperial favour it was thought she had passed from Berlin life.

She has, however, signed a new contract for three years, and will appear at the forthcoming opera season in Berlin, and it remains to be seen whether the memory of her beauty still remains in the susceptible heart of the German Crown Prince.

Miss Geraldine Farrar is now stopping in Paris and being fêted by the Anglo-American Society there.

MRS. WINSLOW'S

Soothing Syrup
FOR CHILDREN TEETHING
Has been used over 60 years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect nuces; a control and it is the best remedy for DYARREGUA.
Sold by all Chemists at 1/12 per bottle.

MUCH NEWS IN FEW WORDS.

The Alake has decided to take a motor-car back with him to Abeokuta.

An enterprising insurance company has offered to insure the Durham County Agricultural Society against loss by a rainy show day.

When the wife of Sergeant Frank Charles heard that he had blown out his brains at Lichfield Bar-racks, the shock drove her mad.

An eighty-year-old pedlar, George Robson, was yesterday sentenced at Lambeth to three months' hard labour for grossly insulting two young girls in Brunswick-square, S.E.

The house in which Charles Dickens was born, situate in Commercial-road, Portsmouth, which was purchased some months ago by the Corporation of that town, has been converted into a museum.

HANDCUFFED GIPSY'S ESCAPE.

Hatless, bootless, and handcuffed, a gipsy named Robert Small jumped from a trap in which he was being conveyed to the station by a policeman, and disappeared in the darkness.

After a hunt, lasting two days, Small has been rearrested at Newton Abbot, thirty-five miles from the scene of his first capture.

CHARGED ON HIS WEDDING DAY

When charged at Marlborough-street yesterday with stealing a suit and kit bags from West End firms, Harry Taylor said that that was the day hims, Harry Taylor said that that was the day fixed for his wedding. He would like to see his wife "that was to have been" for five minutes before he went away, and the magistrate, in remanding him, granted his request.

GENTLEMAN WANTED AT HENLEY.

The following interesting advertisement, from the columns of a London contemporary, holds out a very inviting prospect to the "good river man."

A GENTLEWOMAN would like to hear of Gentleman good river man, to JOIN her PAETY of three ! Wednesday Henley; unexpected disappointment of a guest interview undispensable; not as a paying great.—Addited.

DROWNED ON HIS HOLIDAY.

Through changing seats in a boat at Bourne-mouth four holiday-makers were thrown into the water. One was drowned, and three others narrowly escaped.

When the boat capsized rescuers pulled to the apot, and John Sewell pluckily dived and saved two men, while William Dibden saved another. One of the men was unconscious when got out, but recovered under treatment.

LOVER'S MURDEROUS ATTACK.

William Herbert Robson, twenty-two, of New-castle, was keeping company with Elizabeth Hut-chinson, but they disagreed and had frequent quarrers.

On the last day of June he met the girl, and, butting one arm round her neck, tried to cut her throat with a razor.
Alderman Holmes: And yet he pretends to love this woman.

Prisoner was remanded for committal to the

FORGOT HIS LATCHKEY.

Alfred Tullett, aged twenty, returning to his home in Caledonian-road in the early hours of yesterday morning, wished to get in without disturbing the other occupants.

He mounted on a wall with the idea of getting in through his bedroom window, but lost his footing, and was impaled on the railings below.

He is detained at the Royal Free Hospital suffering from a serious wound.

"HANDY FOR THE RESURRECTION."

By his will, Mr. Thoms, Sheriff of Orkney and Shetland, provided for his burial in a wicker coffin, "so as to be handy for the scramble at the Resursection."

During life Mr. Thoms had certain household rules—for breaking which he fined not only his servants, but himself and his cat, and he used to dine in a "laughing waistecat;" with elastic sides. The will is now a matter of dispute in the Edinburgh Courts.

ROSES AT THE TEMPLE.

A feast of roses opens to-day, when the National Rose Society will hold their annual show in the Temple Gardens, under the special patronage of the Queen, who may visit the show. All the great rose-growers in the United Kingdom will be repre-sented, and in this year, when roses are so specially fine, the exhibits will be exceptionally heartiful.

actually and the beautiful lawns of the Temple autiful. The whole of the beautiful lawns of the Temple ardens are covered with huge marquees, and late at night the exhibits began to arrive. The lst is Guards Band will play during this afternoon.

Mr. Justice Wright, still improving, is now able to take a little solid food, and with help to walk a few steps.

For stealing Miss Woodyatt's bicycle from the vicarage, Over, a schoolboy named Harry Hitchen was arrested in Sunday school.

An Egyptian native paper announces that his Highness the Khedive will visit London again this summer after a stay in Paris.

While the Cunard liner Umbria was in mid-Atlantic, 1,400 miles from England, a pigeon boarded the vessel with a message from London. This is believed to be a record flight.

Four tons of rotten foreign gooseberries, seized on delivery at a jam factory, where they had been refused acceptance, were yesterday ordered to be destroyed by the Southwark magistrate.

While returning from Llandudno a Widnes lady named Miss Bolton fell from the train, travelling over thirty miles an hour. Marvellous to relate, she escaped serious injury, and continued her journey the next day.

SUICIDE IN THE SERPENTINE.

The body of Frederick Davis, a chimney sweep, was found in the Serpentine, with the dead man's neckerchief tied over his mouth and nose.

At the inquest yesterday a verdict of Suicide while of unsound mind was returned.

SISTER'S BOOTS BOUGHT DRINK.

Kate McCann has been sentenced to twenty-one ays' imprisonment at Salford Sessions for a re-arkable assault.

markable assault.

Kate's sister went to visit her, and, at Kate's request, the sister took off her boots and allowed Kate to pawn them. Drink was bought with the money, which the women consumed.

In the evening, when the sister asked for her boots back, Kate struck her over the head with a jug, inflicting severe injuries.

ADVENTUROUS VOYAGERS.

The Brighton, a sailing boat, 41ft. long, and 12ft, beam, has sailed from Lowestoft on a 16,000 miles cruise to Australia.

miles cruise to Australia.

Two gentlemen belonging to Brighton are to make this long trip, Mr. A. L. Napper and Mr. J. L. Langford, both of whom hold sea captain's certificates. Their route is by Madeira and Teneriffe to the Cape, whence they will strike straight across the ocean to Fremantle, West Australia.

TERRIBLE DREAM CAME TRUE.

Mrs. Fred. Oliver, who was killed by her hus-band at Risca, told a neighbour a remarkable story on the night before the tragedy. She informed a Mrs. France 2004.

story on the night before the tragedy.

She informed a Mrs. Evans that she had had a horrible dream, in which she had been murdered while in bed, and that the parson was standing in the room.

Early the following morning Oliver, having been Early the following morning Oliver, having been reading downstalrs, was apparently seized with insanity, and went upstairs and cut his wife's throat. He afterwards cut his own throat, but is recover-

IN AIRY ATTIRE.

Attired in an airy costume, comprising a shirt, tie, and collar, which had been generously supplemented by a rug lent by the somewhat shocked police, William Murphy made an undignified bow to the Oldham magistrates, who sent him to prison for two months.

He was arrested for a trivial offence on Saturday, and after violently assaulting a constable was placed in a cell, where he tore his clothes to shreds.

At Widnes Harry Anderson, who had similarly destroyed his clothes, appeared in court disguised in two sacks.

He told a story of having caught forty or fifty rabbits with a tennis net, which he was charged with stealing, and was naturally remanded for inquiries.

A shark, 51ft. long, has been caught by a fisher-man in Swansea Bay.

A fine of £50 has been inflicted on a Radcliffe solicitor for being an unregistered money-lender. He denied the charge.

At Sedgley a prisoner named Edward Westwood said he had been stupefied through smoking twenty cigarettes in an hour.

The Hamburg-American Line intermediate ser-vice was concluded at Plymouth yesterday, and transferred to Dover both for outward and home-

After being at large for three years, John Hamer has been captured and convicted at Hastings of fraudulently retaining money obtained for advertisements in a directory. Three months' imprisonment was the sentence imposed.

FOUND HIS DEAD SON.

A Mr. Naughton, of Ardkeeragh, Athlone, found the feet of a man protruding from a bank near the the feet of a man providing from Tailway.

The body was dug out, and proved to be that of the discoverer's son, who had been overwhelmed by a bank slip while at work for the Midland and Great Western Railway of Ireland.

ASSAULTED MOTHER AND DAUGHTERS.

Three women, a mother and two daughters, re-monstrated with a Newcastle labourer named Arthur Chaplin for striking an old man. Chaplin at once struck all three women, and con-tinued his violence when placed in the police cell, where he smashed the windows. He was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

BRUTAL PRISONER SMARTLY SENTENCED.

When charged at Marylebone yesterday with brutally kicking a constable in Edgware-noad, Harry Kitchen, asked if he wished to cross-examine, said, "No; that's all right. Pity he ain't got no more."
"Well," said Mr. Plowden, "if you take that line I can do nothing less than sentence you to six months' hard labour."

TRIUMPH OF THE BIOGRAPH.

In minutest detail the biograph at the Empire nightly reproduces every phase of the exciting wrestling match which took place at the Albert Hall between Hackenschmidt and Jenkins.

The figures are life-size, and every strenuous move in the great struggle is graphically reproduced, rousing the audience to intense excitement and enthusiasm.

To have taken such a series of instantaneous photographs by artificial light is a great triumph.

MOTOR DRIVER COMMITTED.

"If I had run into the boy I should have cleared the 'bus," said Horace Melville, who was charged with being drunk, with driving a motor-car without a licence, and with causing grievous bodily harm to Alick Schude.

to Alick Schude.
Witnesses alleged that on May 23 defendant was driving his car in Commercial-road at a great pace, and just avoided a boy, but ran into a 'bus, which he damaged, and threw Schude out, injuring him so badly that he has been in hospital ever since.
After hearing several witnesses, the magistrate committed defendant for trial.

TEN.VEAR-OUR HERO

Three little boys, aged six, seven, and ten, were playing cricket in a field at Tinsley, when the ball fell into a brick pond.

The youngest, named Jimmy Twaddle, in trying to get it out, fell in, and the eldest, named Harry Deakin, said, "Wait a bit, Jimmy, and I'll pull thee out."

Deakin, however, also fell in while making a plucky attempt to rescue "Jimmy," and both lads were drowned.

THE CITY.

Talk of New Loans Discourages the Markets

There was not much improvement in the market conditions yesterday, and, although the release of dividend moneys was, of course, heavy, and the news from the Lombard-street bankers not discouraging, the new loans and rumours of new loans rather tend to keep the markets in an unsatisfactory frame of mind. The Brazilian Rio de Janeiro loan is being supported by a strong financial syndicate, and will soon be brought floward of the cool reception of the Cape loan, the markets are wondering what people will think of it. It remains to await the terms of issue. Then the coming of the new Japanese loan, first mentioned in these columns, is also discussed. But Consols closed above the wors, not much fault to find. The attendance was small, thanks partly to Henley.

Home Rails.

Home Rails.

Home Rails have been a dull market, although here also there was a slight raily towards the finish, and also there was a slight raily towards the finish, and also there was a slight raily towards the finish, and all lone was that traffics did not come up to expectations. The Metropolitan take was good enough, and the news that the line is negotiating to patch up it different to the state of the slight of the same that the line is negotiating to patch up it different should be also the same that the sam

No Change for Roffing

No Chance for Katfire.

There was a dull tendency in the Kaffir market at first, and all leading descriptions were being sold. Then there came a rally before the close, but absolutely no enhusiasm. In the Westralian market, however, the news of the developments at depth on the Great Fingall Africans, too, were rather better. In connection with this last market the death of Mr. Stanley Bamberger, so well known in the section, has to be mentioned. Gordon Hotels continue a weak market, and some Gordon Hotels continue a weak market, and some are also affected by Monday's poor titisted Ponds are also affected by Monday's poor titisted for the commons.

LATEST MARKET PRICES.

* The "Daily Mirror" prices are the latest available. Unlike most or our contemporaries, we take special care to obtain the last quotations in the Street markets after the official close of the Stock Exchange.

cofficial close of the Stock Exchange.

The following are the closing prices for the day:
Consols 2) pc... 90\(\frac{1}{2}\) 90\(\frac{1}{2}\) 1Pacific ... 11\(\frac{1}{2}\)
Do Account ... 90\(\frac{1}{2}\) 90\(\frac{1}{2}\) Western ... 12\(\frac{1}{2}\)
London C.C. 90\(\frac{1}{2}\) 90\(\frac{1}{2}\) Western ... 12\(\frac{1}{2}\)
London C.C. 90\(\frac{1}{2}\) 90\(\frac{1}{2}\) Mo Ord ... 10\(\frac{1}{2}\)
Nat. Wat Loan. 97\(\frac{1}{2}\) 90 Do Do H. ... 12\(\frac{1}{2}\)
Transval Loan. 97\(\frac{1}{2}\) 90 Do Do H. ... 12\(\frac{1}{2}\)
Po Port 100\(\frac{1}{2}\) 101 Gd Tak. Ord ... 12\(\frac{1}{2}\)
Po Exaliant pc 1880 72\(\frac{1}{2}\) 78\(\frac{1}{2}\)
Do Word Minas 29\(\frac{1}{2}\) 90 Do Srd ... 39\(\frac{1}{2}\)
Chil 1886 ... 84 88
Nitrate Ord ... 74\(\frac{1}{2}\)

Transval Loan. 972 98

*Avgratine 1898. 401 1011

*Do Fundy 102 1024

Braillan4 pc 1899 777 784

Do Wof Minas 804 90

*Chili 1896 - 84 80

*Gordin 1896 - 84 80

Egyptin Unified 104 100

*Italian 101 102

Jap.5pc Gd. 1896 68 57

*The Application of the Company o Lipton L.& I. D. Df. Ord. Nelson's

B.A. Gt. South'n1321 1331

Gold Coast Amt... Gold'n Horseshoe Gt. Bld. Per. New *Do Prop. ... Gt. Fingall 10/ Ivanhoe ... Joh. Con. In. oh. Con.
inights
ake View Cons. day Consolidated
Meyer & Charl.
iliodderfontein
Mysore Gold
Nile Valley
Nundydroog
Nundydroog
Nundydroog
Maregum

Crown Reef..... De Beers Def. ... East Rand E. Rand. M. Est..

In the case of a death at Charing Cross Hospital, which had been notified to the coroner by telephone, Mr. Troutbeck stated yesterday that he could not accept such a message as a proper means of reporting a death.

Greatest Bargain of All.

Bargains are on the minds of everybody these days. Greatest of all is the "Daily Mirror" Fountain Pen at 2/6. Cut out the page 2 Coupon.

NOTICES TO READERS.

The Editorial, Advertising, and General Business

2, CARMELITE-STREET,

TELEPHONES: 1310 and 1319 Hollow

The West End Offices of the Daily Mirror are:—
55 and 46, NEW BOND-STREET, LONDON, W.
TRIERRORE: 1986 Gerrard.
TRIERRAPHIC ADDRESS: "Reflexed," London.
PARIS OFFICE: 25, Rue Taithout.

The Daily Mirror is sent direct by post to any part of se United Kingdom at the rate of 1d. a day (which induces postage), payable in advance; or it is sent for one onth on receipt of 2s. 6d.; for three months, 6s. 6d.; To subscriber, almost for a year, 2s. 75.

To subscriber, almost for a year, 2s. 8.

S. dt.; for six months, 19s. 6d.; for twelve months, 39s.; yaable in advance.

in advance.

nuces should be crossed "Harclay and Co.,' payable to the Manager, Daily Mirror.

Daily Mirror

BRITAIN AGAIN AT WAR.

The fast hope of settling the Tibetan question peacefully has died away. The Lamas have refused to treat with us on the terms proposed by Colonel Younghusband. Fighting began again vesterday. We must now see the thing through.

Henceforward we shall say no more about the policy which has led us into this position. So long as negotiations were going on, it was open to any Briton to say that he thought British interests were being badly handled. Now that war has begun in earnest, it is the part of the patriot to hold his tongue about what has gone before.

What we must all wish for now is that our troops in Tibet will do what they have to do with as little loss and as much speed as pos-sible. We have disliked the idea of marching our expedition to Lhassa. We have said so plainly enough.

But we hold with Shakespeare's Polonius that the wise plan is to "beware of entrance to a quarrel, BUT, being in, bear at that the opposer may beware of thee." Now we have unsheathed the sword, let us strike hard. Peace is the time for talking. War is the time for blows.

It is not an easy task that we have undertaken. It will cost a great deal of money. Little chance of any remissions of taxes so long as this job is on hand! But our rulersmen we have chosen to conduct the nation's business—they have decided to go ahead, so for goodness' sake, let us show the world a united front. That is the only attitude to suit patriotic men.

A LINGERING PREJUDICE.

are so appallingly frequent, scarcely seems a suitable one for protesting against restric-tions on speed.

But we certainly think most passed.

tions on speed.

But we certainly think most people will agree with Mr. John Scott-Montagu, M.P., that if ten miles an hour is to be the limit of speed for motors in the Royal Parks, it ought to be the limit for horses also.

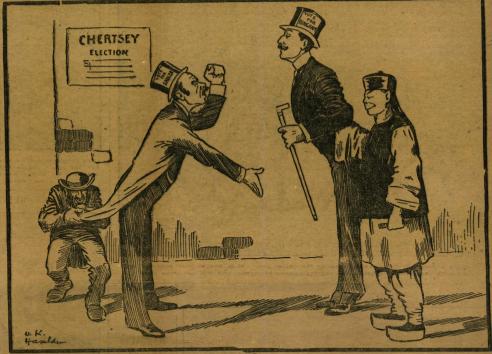

The Office of Works does not take this view. Their reason is that they want to make the parks accessible to all, a very laudable desire, but one which has nothing to do with the case.

To put all vehicles on the same footing would keep no one out, and would have the merit of being sensible and up-to-date.

A THOUGHT FOR TO-DAY.

The Russian peasant never wishes for anything nor frets for what might have been. He has no ambitions beyond his daily needs. If he has enough, he has it; if not, it doesn't matter. He is perfectly satisfied with himself, and riches for him are a sufficiency of black bread and salted herrings and a little vodka. If he can get it he will soak himself in wodka; but he is quite content with his stakan of tea if he cannot. He will steal when there is no chance of detection, and lie as a matter of course. And he has a simple faith in the icon for the remission of sins, and in the "God on Earth" (He Tsar) for his destiny.—Mr. Carl Joulert, in "Russia As It Really Is." (Nash. 78. 8d.)

CHERTSEY POLLS TO-DAY.

MR. SADLER (Liberal candidate): Yah! 'Oo's yer Tree-to Chin-Chin-Chinaman! Garn!

LORD BINGHAM (Conservative candidate): Anyway, I'm not ashamed of him. You are to be anxious to keep your foreign acquaintance in the background.

[While the Liberals have made Chinese labour their trump card, they have thrustens been attacked for advocating the admission into this country of any alter, however underivable. But on this point Mr. Sadler has said as little as he could.

MORNING'S GOSSIP. THIS

Iules Massenet, the famous French composer of "Salome," which is to be given at the Opera tonight, was once a boy prodigy. Yes, there were boy prodigies even so far back as the forties. But just when he had begun to make a name for himself at the age of seven, his father decided that he must go into a convent school to be trained for the Roman priesthood. The boy was very unhappy, and soon ram away, which had the effect he desired, for, although he was recaptured, his mother saw that he had no vocation for anything but music, and let him go to Paris again.

Here he had a hard struggle for several years. His parents were poor, and he had to earn his living by giving piano-lessons at a shilling an hour, and playing drums and cymbals in restaurant orchestras. But he worked hard at composition, too, and his talent was at last recognised. Now he is the foremost of French composers, and a familiar figure in the best Paris society. He does all his work between dawn and ten o'clock in the morning. Then he stops work for the day.

Of Madame Calvé, his principal interpreter at Covent Garden this evening, M. Massenet has the highest opinion. When she appeared in his opera "Sapho" he said: "In the first act she is sphendid, in the second adorable, in the third inconceivable, in the fourth radiant, and in the fifth sublime! Oddly enough, the famous singer, like the great composer, was educated for the Church. It was intended that she should be a nun.

It was intended that she should be a nun.

However, the Church could not keep her any more than it could keep Massenet. Her voice was discovered and trained, and she began to make headway as a singer. It was not, however, until she was recovering from an illness that it suddenly came to her that she could act as well as sing.
Since then she has been one of the world's great actresses. She would still be famous if she had no singing voice at all. She admires fine acting even more than fine singing. One of her most treasured possessions is a signed photograph of Ellen Terry with these words on it, "One lesson in English I give you. I love you."

Now that G. F. Watts has gone, George Mere-dith is the grandest of the "grand old men" who are left. Here are some of his observations upon his countrymen, confided to Mr. Nevinson, of the "Daily Chronicle":—

Daily Chronicle":—
The English people know nothing about me.
There has always been something antipathetic between them and me.
The English people have been all love for al love for nature.

The fear
English

"Men come to me," the novelist continued, "and say their trade would suffer, or they could not spare two years. Their real meaning is they are afraid of being called out and shot at." As far as our regular army, it will never, he declared, be anything but a chaos so long as it is controlled by such "singularly unintellectual, ill-educated, and unbusinessible." officers. That is pretty strong, but when he came to discuss parsons, Mr. Meredith declared they were 'worse than uneducated.' His gave up going to church fortry years ago, because 'he could not listen any longer to the nonsense he heard talked there.' Women, he thinks, "would make excellent parsons-they ought to be parsons."

Lord Kilmorey was quite in his element on the stage of His Majesty's Theatre last night. He has been much mixed up with theatrical affairs. In fact, he has built a playhouse (the Globe, which no longer exists), written plays (for the Kendals long ago), and been a theatrical lessee himself (he once tried to run the St. James's for a little while). He has numbers of friends in "the profession," and his photograph decorates the mantelpieces of most of our popular players.

How many neonle who were at the Musical Convention of the proposed of the stage of the st

How many people we were at the Musical Copyright meeting knew that "Stephen Adams," who made such a capital little speech in defence of composers, is Mrs. Maybrick's brother-in-law? His real name is Michael Maybrick. He took the other when he went on the concert platform as a baritone, and he has composed under it ever since. He lives in the Isle of Wight and is very popular there, for he is a cheerful soul, much given to out-door sports, and always ready to do anyone a good turn.

and always ready to the anyone in two years running Mayor of Ryde—that and his fame as the composer of "Nancy Lee," which every organ used to play, every street-boy to whistle, and every drawing-room amateur to sing twenty years ago. "The Midshipmite" was his, too, and the "Blue Alsatian Mountains," which one associates with Du Maurier's drawings and the eatheric craze, and all the dear dead doings of the early eighties. Later on he won equal popularity with "The Holy City."

It sounds irreverent, the instruction left by a Scottish sheriff that he should be buried in a wicker coffin, "so as to be handy for the scramble at the Resurrection." But, if he really believed what he wrote in his will, it was not irreverent at all. Rather the contrary. Probably the same idea is behind the American habit of burying men in evening dress—sailf shirt, white tie, silk socks, patent-leather shoes, and all—the idea that they shall go before their Creator in their best, as they sailf into the presence of an earthly potentate.

TWO MEN OF THE MOMENT.

The Chertsey Candidates.

The Cherisey Candidates.

They are neither of them ever likely to set the Thames on fire. The principal figures in the election contest have been neither Lord Bingham nos Mr. Thomas Sadler, but the Rand Chinaman and the East End alien.

Neither can speak well. Mr. Sadler has had more practice, for he has been a politician twenty years; but he arouses no enthusiasm. Lord Bingham is difficulty even in stringing together a few intelligible sentences.

As the son of an ell-the Earl of Lucan—he is sure of the villa vote, but the snobs are the only voters of whom he can be sure. He was at Harrow, and has been in the Army—a highly respectable record, but scarcely one to recommend him to the working-man.

Mr. Sadler's chief qualification is also—respectability! He is a barrister, but has practised very little, kind Fortune having sent him private means. For a long time he was a pillar of that temple of mild-mannered Radicalism, the Eighty Club; but no one ever said of him: "There goes a future Prime Minister."

Still, it is only fair to admit that he is a popular man among all who know him, just as we must credit Lord Bingham with having married a very pretty, as well as a rich, wife.

As candidates there is very little to choose between them, but before eight o'clock to-night Chertsey must decide which it prefers.

QUESTION AND ANSWER.

What Is the Strength of the Force Which Is To Drive Back the Tibetans and Capture Lhassa?

Capture Lhassa?

At Gyangtse there are at present 1,900-men, all Indian troops, with the exception of four companies (800-men) of the Royal Fusiliers and a small detachment of the Norfolk Regiment.

They have with them one machine-gun, six tenpounders, and four seven-pounders.

Between Gyangtse and Chumbi are some eight hundred men more, and additional troops are constantly arriving at the latter place.

Two regiments with more guns are waiting ready in India. These and many more are certain to be required.

ACCORDING TO THE "PINK 'UN."

The late Mr. Spurgeon was once asked whether a member of a brass band could possibly be a Christian? The great divine pondered, and then

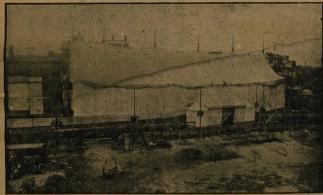

"Yes, I think so, but the man who lives ne door to him certainly not."—"Sporting Time

SPORT AND GAIETY AT HENLEY.

A charming photograph from Henley, showing the course over which the various contests are held during the famous regatta. The regatta opened yesterday, and will last three days.

KING AND BART'S.

His Majesty lays the foundation stone of a new wing at St. Bartholomew's Hospital to-day. Our photograph shows the huge marquee which will be used for to-day's ceremony. The stone will be laid by the King in the marquee. The royal private entrance is through the little tent shown in front of the marquee.

BARGAINS
SALES
NOW ON.
THE GREATEST BARGAIN IS TO BE FOUND ON
PAGE 2.

WHERE THE ASHES OF A GREAT PAINTER WILL REST.

The ashes of Mr. G. F. Watts, R.A., the famous artist, were placed, after the cremation of his body at Brookwood on Monday, on the altar steps of this beautiful mauseleum, and immediately under the lovely altar-piece designed by himself. The mauseleum chapel at Limnerslease, his Syene, was designed by Mr. Watts. The door is the work of the village blacksmith.

A CHERTSEY CANDIDATE.

Lord Bingham, the Unionist candidate for Chertsey. He is contesting the seat with Mr. Sadler, whose portrait is shown below.

TO-DAY'S ELECTION.

Mr. Sadler, the Liberal candidate, contesting the Chertsey division. The election takes place to-day.

A STAGE FAVOURITE.

Miss Kitty Gordon, now playing in "Veronique" at the Apollo Theatre.—(Photograph by Ellis and Walery.)

A HENLEY CHAMPION.

Mr. F. S. Kelly, the winner of the Diamond Challenge Sculle in the Henley Begatta of 1903, and also in 1902. Ontest is one of the most impornering the famous regatta. by Tr. Balland.)

CHERTSE

The Parliamentary election at Cher included a number of cyclists dres introductio

PECKHAM'S FAT BOY

The famous Fat Boy of Pacompanion, Little Dando Strall, in the Music-hall Sports a yesterday.

M.P. KILLED.

Sir William H. Rattigah, who in a motor-car accident at wade.—(Rhotograph by Mauli

DEMONSTRATION AGAINST "CHINESE SLAVERY."

ey, which takes place to-day, has resulted in some curious demonstrations, one of which id to represent Chinese. In front of their handlebars they carried placards denouncing the of Chinamen as miners into South Africa.—(Drawn from a photograph.)

OUR JOLLY JACK AT PLAY.

When at play Jack knows how to amuse himself. Our photograph depicts a scene at the Navai Depot Sports at Portsmouth. Jack is seen as the charger, Tommy Atkins, and the rider all mone.—(Photograph by Cribb.)

Jack Tare in the obstacle race at the Naval Depot Sports, Portsmouth, getting through real naval obstacles—lifebuoys belonging to men-o-war.—(Photo, Cribb.)

Some windows which were broken by the flying fragments hundreds of yards

RAILWAY LOCOMOTIVE EXPLODES IN PARIS

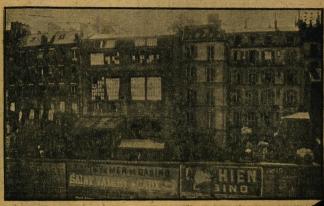

The engine after the explosion at the St. Lazare terminus of the Western Railway in Paris. The locomotive suddenly exploded, injuring seventeen people and destroying much property. The huge machine was literally blown to pieces.

Gathering up the fragments. The remains of the engine as they appeared in the yard after the men had collected all the pieces together.

Hole, twelve feet in diameter, made by two pieces of the smashed machine, on the fourth floor of a house 100 yards away from the scene of the explosion.

GAIN.

LAST NIGHT'S HISTORIC TABLEAUX AT HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

OLD STONES IN NEW SETTINGS.

THE MODERN JEWELLER AS A TRANSFORMER OF UGLY GEMS.

The huge boss brooches of our grandmothers and great-grandmothers, at which their descendants have doubtless looked with shuddering awe, can be transformed with very little expense and a moderate amount of ingenuity into excellent heads lets beloved of our predecessors the bits of carnelion, moss agate, or onyx brought to him by wanderers on the seashore. The lapidary, with his up-to-date appliances, has replaced the lumble handy craftsman, and to-day he is resetting many of these quaint gens.

of these quaint gems.

Numerous are the superstitions and legends attached to some of the minor gems. Amber, according to the well-known story, was formed from the tears shed by Phaeton's sisters when that presumptuous youth met his doon, driving the chariot of the sun-god. What more natural, then, than that it should be regarded as a specific against the vain and fantastical illusions common to all ages? Like several other so-called stones, it becomes charged, when rubbed, with the electricity which borrows its name from the old Greek word for amber, "elektron, the shining thing"; and so the necklaces of amber formerly worn to ward off rheumatism were probably as efficacious as, and infinitely prettier than, the electric specifics in still earlier days to exhibit, if dipped in water, the blood-red image of the sun.

The beryl, which is found in Cornwall as well as in Ireland and Scouland, was once held in great repute as a diviner's stone, in the depths of which, as in the crystal, the seer traced the shadows of future events. It possesses one little-known peculiarity that if known in past ages would have sufficed to give rise to a whole family of legends. In the middle of the ciphteenth century Dumelle, a famous French chemist, discovered that the usually yellow colour of the beryl could be changed by the application of heat, the stone afterwards retaining its new colour. It is to be feared that some so-called balas rubies are neither more nor less than transmuted beryls; in which case can it be held that they possess the true ruby's virtue of preserving their weare from poissor?

The beautiful moonstone of Ceylon is held to be lineky, as its still fairer sister, the opal, is considered to be unlucky; yet the miners of Northern Queensland, who have recently proved the existence of specimens of opal in the new world as fine as any that Asia holds, have not yet been heard to grumble at their ill-luck, save in the matter of the price obtained; for it is notious that opals are now down in the market.

The amethyst can scarcely be classed among the minor gens at present, for it is enjoying a well-deserved return of popularity as the stone the Queen applauds. It should be specially prized by zealous temperance workers, for it is said to ensure its wearer against the temptations of alcohol.

More potent for good than any of the stones mentioned is the pale pink or rose-red coral of the Mediterranean, which is cut into chams to be worround the neck of every Italian girl, tich or poor, who has a wholesome dread of the Evil Eye. The most effectual charm is formed of a feminine hand of coral walls the stone.

the palm, the first and fourth fingers thus making the sign of the "horn," from which his Satanic Majesty has never failed to flee! Add a tiny BENEFICIAL YAWNS.

IMPOLITE BUT HEALTHY EXERCISE.

A good, wide, open-mouthed yawn, says a medical journal, is a splendid thing for the whole body. A yawn is Nature's demand for rest; some people think they only yawn because they are sleepy, but this is not so. You' yawn because you are tired. You may be sleepy also, but that is not the real cause of the yawning. You are sleepy because you are tired, and yawn because you are so.

Whenever you feel like yawning you ought to yawn, and not try to suppress it. If in a place alone where a stretch can be indulged in at the same time as the yawn, it is excellent, for this is Nature's way of relaxing the muscles. Don't be afraid to open the mouth wide, and yawn and stretch whenever you feel like it.

Indeed, if you are very tired, but do not feel like yawning, there is nothing that will rest you so quickly as to sit on a straight-back chair, and, fifting the feet from the floor, to push them out in front as far as possible, stretch the arms, put the head back, open the mouth wide, and make yourself yawn. The tense nerves will relax, the contracted muscles will stretch, and the whole body will be rested. Do this two or three times when you are tired, and the result will be wonderful. A good, wide, open-mouthed yawn, says a medi-

WHAT BRAIN FAG REALLY IS.

If you glance through the biographies of any twenty-five great literary workers you will find a strange and striking difference between the personal lives of perhaps half of the number and of somat lives of permaps han of the number and of the others. Twelve or filteen will be found to be comparatively healthy, while the others are con-stantly afflicted and endure lives of intense suffer-ing. Of this latter class are George Eliot, Huxley, De Quincey, the Carlyles, Browning, Wagner, and Darwin

If we examine carefully the biographies and

If we examine carefully the biographies and letters of the geniuses just mentioned, it will be found that they all suffered in much the same way. They were troubled with headache, dyspepsia, nervousness, indescribable misery, irritability, insomnia, and dejection. Moreover all learned that the use of their eyes in their occupations caused these symptoms, and that the only cure was not to use their eyes in such work. This seems to prove that so-called brain-fag is a myth. The brain does not tire. Intellectual work does not hurt a man or woman under normal conditions. It is eye strain that causes the "brain fag." It also causes wrinkles about the eyes and furrows across the brow, and happy is the woman whose symptoms are these, for if anything will drive her to seek medical aid it is a crop of crow's feet, and in banishing them she discovers the true source of her trouble.

The Leading Corsetiere.

DOWDING.

ELITE.

From 21/-

6 Guineas.

A beautiful white silk brecade toilette was worn by Lady Milbanke, ablaze with gold and silver, and exquisitely softened by pearl embroidery. Her hair was elaborately dressed beneath a quaint muslin cap, and was bunched the Final Tableau Theatre as a black velvet one. trimmed with ermine and magnificent lewels for the long hatpins now imperatively required, or into charming waist-belt clasps: Or, should our ancestress's showl fastener be of an oval form, what better foundation could there be for the body of a many-hued beetle, where art simulates nature with antenne- of delicately-twisted gold or silver wire, the same to be worn as an ornament for the hair? Endless, indeed, are the uses to which the piously treasured relics of the past may be turned in days when bizarre or beautiful effects are set above the mere market value of the stones employed.

above the mere market value of the stones em-ployed.

Time was when every seaside town in Scotland, England, and Wales owned a pebble polisher, who spent hours of loving thought and care in shaping into the fearful and wonderful brooches and brace-

ANGELA

53, CONDUIT ST., LONDON, W. The smartest Costumière and Milliner in the West End.—Vide Fashionable Press Opinions.

CHIC SPECIALITIES.

HATS . . 1 to 3 Guineas. BLOUSES . 2 to 5 Guineas. COSTUMES 5 to 20 Guineas.

-Cash or London Trade Reference.

nowadays purchased. The fashion of using amber mouthpieces for pipes we owe to Turkey, where the beaultiful gum was believed to be incapable of transmitting infection. Chiefly obtained as amber is from the shores of the Balite, it is not uncommon for the visitor to our east coast watering-places to light on a piece that has been washed up by the tide, and which will well vepay cutting and polishing. More common, and no less beautiful is the camelion, in every shade from deep red through gradutions of brown to palest primrose, and unlucky indeed is the searcher who cannot find a few fine specimens as mementoes of long, delicious days spent on the coast of Norfolk in Poppy-land.

The carnelion was greatly prized by the anciently suitable for engraving for seals, and for this reason it ranked, in their estimation, even above gems to which we now attach a far higher value. In the Middle Ages it was customary to dedicate precious stones to various saints, and the carnelion was assigned to the special care of St. Bartholomew, whose feast day on August 24 became one of the great events of the year in rural England. The bloodstone, in which medieval piety saw the drops of blood shed by Christ on the Cross, was supposed

SPECIALITY FARADAY HOUSE, 8 & 10, Charing Cross Road (Opposite National Gallery, Trafalgar Square.)

PEERS GUESTS OF GENERAL BOOTH.

Society "Four o'Clock" Is One of the Remarkable Features of the Great Salvation Festival

Yesterday the Salvation Army Congress culmi-ated in a demonstration at the Crystal Palace that was infinitely the most impressive of the whole

By sheer force of numbers the chief of this remarkable organisation succeeded in emphasising at 50,000. And this great army marched through a cheering crowd of fellow soldiers as great as itself.

Brigade after brigade filed before the Chief.

Brigade after brigade filed before the Chief, gave the military salute, and a salvo of cheers for their beloved general; and passed on. General Booth himself must have been astounded as well as proud at this overpowering demonstration of the success of his life work.

It was a hard day's work for this old man of seventy-five. Early in the morning he was speeding to the Palace in a motor-car-and it is probable that as a result of this ride the General will shortly take steps to utilise the possibilities he at once recognised in the horseless car.

CLIMAY IN ENTHUSIASM

markable organisation succeeded in emphasising its unimagined strength and the immense influence it must exert in all directions.

During the past week London has become accuss tomed to regarding the "Army" as a far-reaching institution, with branches in every corner of the earth. The foreign delegates have effected that.

But yesterday the rank and file of the "Army" mustered in their tens of thousands. They poured into London from the provinces, and from every part of the United Kingdom.

They filled the Crystal Palace and its grounds as only as Bank Holiday or a Cup-tic crowd has ever before succeeded in filling it. When they formed into line, eight abreas, for the review and march past, a moderate computation placed their numbers guests were Viscount Peel, Lord Glenesk, Earl Grey, the Earl of Fortsmouth, Lord Wolverton, Viscountess Frankfort, Lady Violet Greville, Lady Frances Balfour, and Lady Battersea.

The great review at five o'clock by no means ended his day's labours, and when one learns that arrangements are now being made to repeat the congress in Paris, it is impossible not to agree with the General in his favourite jest, "My employers are very beave, on me."

are very heavy on me."

The day's programme contained numerous items illustrative both of the army's strength and of the variety and value of the social work it undertakes.

CHORUS OF 4 000 VOICES

OHORUS OF 4,000 VOICES.

The visitor had his choice between a programme of music rendered by a brass band, 3,000 strong—and overpowering in its energy—and representations of the army's work in different foreign countries and in the slums.

In one corner of the Palace grounds thousands of brightly-clad boys and girls showed what work its sentrusted to the young people of the Army. Later on many of them took part in a musical entertainment, in which a choir of 4,000 voices played a leading part.

But the most interesting show of the day was the crowd itself. There never was seen a better-tempered crowd. Men extricated themselves from a ten minutes' struggle for a cup of tea or a bun with a blessing, and serambled for seats in the transcpt with shouts of laughter.

That it was a sober crowd goes without saying. The position of the few policemen present was not emircly a sinecure, for all that. They all wore worried looks, consequent upon their attempts to answer inquiries couched in thirty different

The day ended as it began, with glad songs and shouts of thanksgiving. It was a fitting ending for one of the most remarkable religious manifesta-tions of modern times.

DISGRACE OF THE CLEAN SHAVE.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

A few days ago two Mahometans from Salonica were sentenced to four months' imprisonment for fraud at Olmutz, where, according to the local laws, every man who is in prison for more than three months has his monstache shaved off.

When the Turks learnt this, both they and their wives began to wail and lament bitterly, the wives asying it was the greatest possible disgrace that could befall a man, and that their husbands would rather be hanged outright than submit.

The Turkish wife is also at liberty to quit her whishand directly he appears without a moustache. Moved by this urgent plea, the Olmutz authorities made an exception in favour of the two prisoners, who were permitted to retain their moustaches.

HOLIDAY AMENITIES.

Heir Budde, Minister of Prussian Railways, has instructed the officials, with reference to the sum-mer holidays, to see that passengers are considerate to their fellow-travellers, and that no undue advan-tage is taken of the weak and helpless.

The Premier's Daughter

By ALICE and CLAUDE ASKEW.

CHAPTER XXX. (continued.)

Margaret Chevenix felt a startled tremor pass through her whole frame, and she grew pitifully conscious of her palpable agitation. She hated Robert Chevenix to notice that she flushed and paled at his approach, yet she could not disguise the emotion she felt. All her old love for the man had returned, and she adored him as passionately now as she had done in the past.

The great man walked slowly forward, thinking charming picture Margaret presented as she leant back against the beech tree, her colour coming and going, her eyes shining like the beautiful eyes of some startled bird.

He even liked her dress. She wore a frock made of a delicate grey stuff, for grey was a colour she had now made her own, and the soft hue of this had now made her own, and the soft hue of this 'Quakerish garb contrasted charmingly with the rich brown of the beech tree trunk and the soft green of the grass. Her large hat shaded her-face becomingly; it was a black hat with a long, drooping feather. Her thin hands folded in her lap and her utter lack of jewellery both helped in the general effect, and no one fooking at Margaret could have guessed the rough path she had trouden in the past, or the tryping life she had led. In a curious but quite comprehensible way she had slipped back to the tastes and feelings of her early girlbood; she had recovered her soft and subdued manner, and returned to her old self again. But the woman was wretched. Robert Chevenix flattered himself that she lived in a happy fairyland, a calm and sheltered country, and he had no idea what iron restraint Margaret was exerting to avoid a breakdown, or how the mere fact of their divided life was preying upon her soul.

"Can I remember—and he forget?" That was the thought which haunted Margaret day and night. She grew wakeful and wistful when she asked herseli—Would the love Robert Chevenix had once given her ever revive? Her heart Chetaeth her with dazzling promises, but she still lived in hope. This state of constant agitation was doing are health serious damage.

"It is pleasant in the wood," began the Premier Quakerish garb contrasted charmingly with the state of constant aguation was come and thin, and a warning cough was beginning to hint at more serious damage.

"It is pleasant in the wood," began the Premier amiably. He remembered the night in London when Margaret had flown from him, and he rather wondered if she would do the same now. He looked more monly and masterful than ever that morning, pleased with himself and with his world. He had imagined that all sorts of social disasters would follow on his marriage, and nothing of the kind had happened; nay, more, his strange choice had actually taken the public fancy and been approved.

A pretty rumour had been started that the Premier and Miss Carew had loved each other for years, but that Robert Chevenix had determined to bring no stepmother home till his daughter married, and this story was readily accepted and believed. It explained so much. The marriage, pieluded by no trumpeting of the engagement or salvo of congratulation, became very natural under such circumstances. Why proclaim an engagement which had gone on for years? And to those who saw Margaret it was easy enough to believe that she would shrink from an ostentatious wedding and plead for a very quiet ceremony.

As to his own world—that inner, social world of wealth and fashion—the conduct of its leaders made Robert Chevenix smile drily, for they all took Margaret it was enw sensation, and delighted in her accordingly.

Great ladies professed a pretty, sentimental interest in the grey-garbed Puritan so suddenly and dramatically promoted to their circle, and the men talked of her delicate charm and simple wistful shyness. "It makes one think of the Early Victorian woman," they remarked to each other; "Chevenix has done a smart thing in finding such a wife."

Yes, his world approved, and the seal of its approval had set the Premier's mind at rest, and he felt deeply grateful to Margaret for the really superb fashion in which she had played a very difficult part. She might so easily have ruined him socially. A lack of discretion, a shade less tact, and the world might have got suspicious, and, the truth once suspected, the whole story would have come out. As it was, Margaret deserved all the consideration he could give her, and all his gratitude.

consideration he could give her, and all his gratitide.

He felt doubtful as regarding the days shead.
Would he always be able to carry on the part of Robert Chevenix, and to cheat the keen eyes of the woman who had loved the dead man so passionately? The more he was thrown with Margraret, the more he would have to be on his guard.
A single word might betray him, an unguarded speech—and then, what might not happen? As yet the Premier felt convinced Margaret had not the least suspicion of the truth; but then, they had been very little together. Still he and the woman could not always be apart; society would wonder and exclaim if they never appeared together. All these thoughts passed through the man's brain as he gazed down on Margaret. Then he shringed his shoulders lightly and determined to dismiss them.

he gazed down on Margaret. Then he shrugged his shoulders lightly and determined to dismiss them.

"They told me—I asked the gardeners"—he went on, after a brief pause, wondering rather idly why Margaret did not speak, "that you had taken your way to the wood; so I came here to find you, Margaret, for I rather wanted to talk to you." He dangled his thick country walking-stick as he spoke, and slashed the head off a pale, star-like amemone, the delicate bloom falling crushed and battered.

"Don't do that," cried Margaret, pitifully, for she was one of those women who can never hear to witness the ruthless slaughter of flowers, and then she got up from the grass. "I am quite ready to walk back with you to the house," she said, quietly, "I only came out for a little walk." She wondered vaguely what he wanted to see her about. Perhaps the sight of her pale face had become an unendurable evil, and he was going to msk her to take up her residence abroad? He might bear with her a little longer, she thought wistfully, conscious of the ever-growing spirit of lassitude and fatigue that had come over her lately, and the lines floated through her mind, the poor tender lines swing by a woman who had loved as fondily as herself:—

When lovely woman stoops to folly, And finds roa late that me hetray.

When lovely woman stoops to folly, And finds too late that men betray, What charm can soothe her melancholy, What art can wash her guilt away?

The only art her guilt to cover,
To hide her shame from every eye,
To give repentance to her lover,
And wring his bosom is—to die.

"I don't want to go back to the house particularly," the Premier's voice broke in on her sad musings, "why shouldn't we have our talk here, and sit down again, Margaret, for you look tired?" He was suddenly struck by the extreme thinness of her face, and the heavy way in which she lifted her head. She looked to him like a woman drooping with fatigue, a flower slain by the sun.

"Yes, I am tired," Margaret agreed meekly, as he sat down again and half closed her eyes. When she opened them again she found that her busband had flung himself down on the moss by her side, and this near contact made her start, and half unconsciously she edged a little away. He noticed this, and put out his hand, closing it tightly on hers, just as the dead man might have done.

done.
"Margaret," he said softly, something of his ponderous dignity falling from him and a curious, youthful look appearing for a second on his face, "the situation is not so impossible, after all. You must learn to take your proper place in my life.

Just now you seem afraid of meeting me—am I such an ogre?" He smiled pleasantly; yes, he felt quite certain he was playing the scene as Robert Chevenix would have played it.

"Little good can come of our meeting," Margaret said drearily, even though her heart was surging wildly. Why should the man come seek ing her out if he was utterly indifferent to her; could it be possible that his love was beginning to revive? "You cannot really want to see much of me," she went on slovely, wondering if he would contradict the statement, "and so I try to avoid you as much as possible, for your own sake as well as for my own."

"Don't do so in the future," he replied quickly; "I do not like you to vanish into corners when I approach, or to run down the passages like a scared fawn. Do you hold me in such reproach, Margaret, that it is impossible for us to meet as friends? Can you not forgive the old wrong I did you; forgive it sufficiently for you to take some pleasure in my society—am I utterly hateful to you?" He looked hard at her as he spoke, noticing with keen eyes how her face quivered and her lips trembled. At last she answered him, but very slowly and wilth great pathos:

"I have forgiven you; please do not ask me that question again; but I cannot get out of my head that my presence annoys you." She sighed wearily, and glanced up at him, a sad smile playing upon her lips. "You loved me once," she went on in low tones, "and I remember reading a line that rather explains things as I see them. The line was, Friendship."

"I do not understand," he muttered rather bluntly, feeling that he was treading on delicate ground, and that it behoved him to walk warily. "What do you mean, Margaret?" She did not answer for a moment, but plucked some long blades of grass and plaited and unplaited them round her finger.

"Can't you feel things as I do?" she asked at last, a wave of warm colour crimsoning her thin, delicate face. "How can we meet daily as meet friends, we who loved each other so passionately in the past. Oh, the whole broke off her speech abruptly, fearful of having said too much.

The Premier bit his lip inpatiently: The woman loved him, at least loved the man she thought he was, and this meant treuble ahead. He understood enough of women to know that. How was he to take the situation? The man he personated might easily enough have picked up the threads and made Margaret happy with a kirs and a warm caress; indeed, she looked so charming that any other course would have seemed absurd, but the Premier shrank back from such conduct.

Margaret happy with a kiss and a warm careas; hargaret happy with a kiss and a warm careas; no the content would have seemed abaud, but the Fremier strank back from such conduct.

He respected Margaret too much to deceive her so cruelly, or to insult her by such a kiss. It would imply a depth of meanness to which he could not descend, a baseness of which he was not capable. He must try to make her think he had not understood her meaning, and must fence as best he could with the situation.

"Why harp on the past, Margaret?" he asked in clear, cold tones; "the past is over and dead But we have the present before us and the future There is no reason why there should not be real affection between us; do not imagine that I have ceased to care for you." He was aware, as he spoke, how inadequate his words were; how wanting in passion and sincerity, and he was not surprised that they grated harshly on Margaret's ears.

"Oh, you are wrong to say that you care for me," she cried, interrupting him with some passion. "You care for nothing except ambition. You are grateful to me just now because I have not proved an utter millstone round your neck, and because I have helped to save your name from disgrace; but you don't really care for me; you never did. I was pretty, years ago, and what small beauty I had attracted you, and so, ruthlessly and cruelly, I was sacrificed to your passion. Don't start and look at me like that, Robert," she went on excitedly; "can you deny the truth of my words?"

The man shook his head; he could say nothing.

"And I loved you so," Margaret went on biterly; "I loved you with all my heart and soul. Oh, Robert, can you not understand what I felt after you had deserted me. Think what it means to stand by the deathbed of my wounded love and watch love die. You don't know what it means to stew all the trembling fears and fancies of your heart over a dead dream. Yet I sat by love's dead self night after night, weeping my heart out, forgetting everything, except that you had deserted me."

"Hush, hush," nottered the Persistent of the property of the "Hush, hush," muttered the Premier, "what is the good of these morbid recollections; let them getting everything, except that you had deserted me."

"Hush, hush," muttered the Premier, "what is the good of these morbid recollections; let them be."

"But I cannot," she answered, quickly, "would to heaven that I could. Don't you understand what has happened? This love of mine that I thought dead and buried, and land gone far to forgetting, is awake now, awake and stirring restlessly. After many years it has turned in its grave, and will steep no more." Margaret spoke quickly, her cheeks burning with excitement, her eyes flashing and glittering, for she was carried out of herself. "Do not tremble so," said the man, pitifully," and do try to forget such a weird fanox."

"How can I?" she replied impatiently, "you do not know of what you speak. No dead dream ever kept you awake at nights, Robert, rising up from its grave and coming in a pale shrouded ghost, waking you with its low sobs and its piteous tears. This is the dream I have to drive away, mult after night; I have to beat it back with my lands; my love for you, my fatal and all-consumers. She sprang to her feet said the back, aghas, and faced the man, who stepped the said, and affect the said the back, aghas, and faced the man, who stepped the said, and you once swore that you loved me."

"So I did; so I do!" he exclaimed hastily, hardly knowing what he said. "Only, there is a time for everything under the sun, Margaret, and love, the mere love between man and woman, has no place in my life now; I live only for my work and my ambition."

"I see." She fixed her large, melancholy eyes upon him, her breast still heaving with the violence of her emotion. "But you do care-for me—in a sort of way?" The question was pathetic; her voice was full of tears.

"Care, of course I care, Margaret." He took her cold, damp hands in his firm grasp. "I should be the veriest cur on, earth if I didn't, after all the sacrifices you have made for me. But promise me one thing—try and be happy. We have dominer; still the autumn remains, the caim, peaceful autumn. Let us be ha upset."

She nodded her head. "Send for the doctor if you like, Robert, but he needs to be a clever doctor to cure a broken heart."

(To be continued to-morrow.)

OURSELVES THROUGH RUSSIAN SPECTACLES.

The Muscovite Believes We Are Gluttons, and That We Would Sell Our Wives To See a Football Match.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Monday.

Not long ago the "Novoye Vremya" admitted that "Englishmen sometimes tell the truth."

Apparently this admission weighed on the editor's Apparenty this admission weighted the conscience, for in the next phrase he qualified it with the words, "for even in England honesty is sometimes the best policy."

as sometimes the pest poncy.

As far as English politics are concerned, the "Novoye Vremya" is undoubtedly the mouthpiece of Muscovite sentiment. Hundreds of cuttings like the following, from the "Grazhdanin," might be collected from the Russian Press every "English politics are foxy, subtle, and shame-less, it being the boast of the new Imperialists that all principles are subordinate to British aggrandisement."

The picture above shows var dance by the Aberigine of Australia.

But it is in their ideas of Englishmen and Englishwenen personally that the Tsar's subjects are most entertaining. "Starch and steel, with water in his veins and blood on his hands—a typical Anglitchanin (Englishman)" is a description which occurs in a popular novel by M. Petkoff, and this is also the average Russian's summing-up of his old enemy, John Bull.

"J. B." AS WIFE BEATER.

"J. B." AS WIFE BEATER.
Russians, like most foreigners, are firmly convinced that all Englishmen beat their wives. The hero of a melodrama lately produced at Moscow Is made to beast, "I'm no wife-beating Britt."
Englishmen are also supposed to keep their children in order by cruelty. The flogging of children for laziness or vice seems to a Russian lassufferable barbarity. When the writer admitted to a Russian that he had been caned at school, he got the reply, "And did you submit to the humiliation? With me it would have been one of two things-murder or suicide!"
Muscovite compliments are, however, often even less flattering than Muscovite conner. When the famous novelist, Turgenieff, wanted to paint an ideal Russian patrician, he called him "the Englishmen," and described a rigid, "correct," proud, and gloony mannikin, without a trace of human nature in his composition.
Another Angiophile novelist pays this genuine flattery:—
"Paul was more like an Englishmen than one of Another Angiophile novelist pays this genume-diatery:—

"Paul was more like an Englishman than one of our passionate, easy-going Russians. He had the regular features, hard chin, and close-clipped head of the English 'pier of noble birth'. His dress was correct and unobtrusive, and his manner cold His bow was a familiar nod, and his handshake a touching of finger-tips. He seemed never happy, yet was never ostentatiously sad, save at breakfast, when the morseness inherited from his English grandmother showed itself."

GRIM AT BREAKFAST.

GRIM AT BREARFAST.

The belief that all Englishmen are grim at the breakfast-table shows itself in the amusing recollections of M. Kumetsoff.

For the control of the contr

frank critic. "Football consists in the kicking of a ball and the kicking of the players, and the side which kicks the ball and the other side hardest wins the game. I have seen many bloody noses and broken limbs."

"Such is the mania for football that even the Prime Minister, Mr. Ballour, plays against roughs from Manchester and Southwark, and has more than once been thrown and seriously injured."

The Englishman's pipe is a cause of offence to delicate Muscovites, who smoke only cigarettes.

"Who has not been disgusted," asks a writer named Pavloff, "by the fat Englishman polluting our railway carriages with the foul smoke of his sickening pipe? At home he is worse. At diner, between courses, he will draw a dirty pipe from the tail of his dress-coat and puff away. He will even offer pipes to his guests.

"At the theatre the entractes are made horrible by a hundred puffing pipes in the foyer, which becomes a miniature London, sickening to the sense of smell, and shrouded by thick smoke from the sight. Even our muzhiks hide their pipes in the presence of their betters. But the Englishman has no better."

"THE BRITISH APE-WALK."

has no better."

A wealthy Russian manufacturer named Khabaloff, who recently returned from London, introduced local society to the "British ape-walk," which he declared has entirely superseded the cake-walk as the fashionable dance of London "higid."

About twenty male guests, wearing silk hats, and holding nuts in their hands, crawled round the room like monkeys, uttering uncouth cries.

Some of the guests, portly and prosperous merchants, looked indescribably ridiculous. Khaba-loff explained that the so-called "ape-walk" was borrowed by the English from the Australian aborigines.

The ape-walk legend is implicitly believed by many Russians, and the dance has already been depicted more than once in the illustrated Press. "Englishmen greatly admire their King Edward because he has tact," said the "Journal Strekoza." "They want what they have not. A Briton can be, civil when he has anything to gain, and as he is generally intent on gain he is civil in his business relations. Otherwise he is a barbarian. "He will jostle you in the street with a hurried "Goddamme!" or 'Blow your eyes!' and tread on your toes in a railway carriage with his immeasurable feet. He also stares, and thinks that everyone with a clean shirt on is "a gentlemens."

It is not strange after this to find that Muscovites do not appreciate our English beauty. "I have seen some pretty Englishwomen," wrote a traveller signing himself "A.Kh." in the St. Petersburg

"Viedomosti." "But they were all under twenty. Affect that, if they are married, they are fat, and, if they are single, they are lean.
"Protruding teeth are almost universal, and big feet and bony hands are common. The complexions are good, but soon degenerate into a spotty redness, unpleasant to see. The walk is a waddle, tempered by an affected primness; and all these Rosies, Violettas, and Brigets are as cold as is the town of Archangel.
"They are fierce and unapproachable, being armed with elbows. In England ugly women not unfrequently commit suicide; and the national unattractiveness increases at such a rate that the marriage-rate is falling."

THE PICTURE REVERSED.

It must be said that all Russians are not so un-

"The away twenty Englishmen breakfasting at the Hotel Cedi with their wives and daughters. Not one opened his mouth in conversation. Some tuned over the newspapers, some punctuated their repast by swearing at the waiter, and all attended their repast by swearing at the waiter, and all attended their repast by swearing at the waiter, and all attended their repast by swearing at the waiter, and all attended their repast by swearing at the waiter, and all attended their repast by swearing at the waiter, and all attended their repast by swearing at the waiter, and all attended their repast by swearing at the waiter, and all attended their repast by swearing at the waiter, and all attended their repast by swearing at the waiter, and all attended their repast by indigestion."

A music-hall song, very popular in Russia some pars ago, informed the public that—

The Russian loves the beautiful, The beautiful and good, The Frenchman loves his mother, The Bitton worships food.

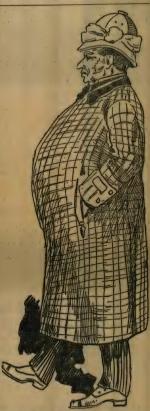

"The necessor Khoroshkin reported that "English women are the source by represent the proposed that all Russians are not so un-the proposed to the proposed that "English women are the source by present with the pressure of sund and the proposed that all Russians are not so un-the proposed to the control of the proposed that "English women are the source by present whether shall have been best-looking in Europe. They are better built, have healthier faces, clearer eyes, wall mouths, and more abundant hair than any women in Europe. Especially are the young girls worth out our gawkish, round-shoul
The Russian loves the beautiful, The beautiful and good, The Frenchman loves his mother, The Bitton worships food.

"The average Englishman would sell his wife for a good place at a football match," says another with the freshness of spring in all the treathers of spring in all the strength women are the two more in turney one pressor and mouths of the pressor and the freshness of spring in all worth, and we are a fundant in English properties. The Bitton of all the students in one Russian college was in sum equal to theirs."

Some Russians have even admired our climate. A traveller named Sievertseff reported as follows:

"Though it rained fourteen out of the sixteen days I spent in England, I felt livelier and more energetic than in Russia, where I am always in-dolent from the heat or frozen into numbness. And when it is not raining England is the prettiest country in Europe."

John Bull worships food. The above is a reproduction of a Russian cartoon, taken from a Russian newspaper, which de-clares that the English people are not only great eaters, but virtually worship food.

FLYING FROM RUSSIAN CRUELTY.

Jew Deserters Declare They Are Knouted for Fun.

The fact that nearly half the passengers on the ill-fated Norge were Polish Jews, who had de-serted from the Russian Army, has drawn atten-tion to the number of these unfortunates now in Condon.

"Ever since the war broke out," said a Jewish gentleman in high place yesterday, "there has been a constant stream of deserters pouring into this country. They are practically all Jews.

"In Russia military service for a Jew is almost unbearable."

A Mirror reporter paid a visit to one of the places where the refugees congregate, and had interesting conversations with some of them.

interesting conversations with some of them.

"How did I get away?" said one. "I sold everything I had, and after suffering terrible privations reached the frontier. I tried hard to cross it by stealth, but it was too well guarded. Then I bribed the officials, and they let me through.

"I would rather die than serve in the Army," he concluded. "I have seen men knouted nearly to death for pure amusement."

LANDLADY'S DEFENDER KILLED.

Two men, Brunelle Josephs, a Corsican freman, and Pedro Armie, a Spaniard, were arrested yesterday in what is known as the "foreign settlement" at North Shields on a charge of being concerned in causing the death of a gas stoker named Patrick Gilligan.

It is alleged that the two foreigners had been annoying Gilligan's landlady by making a noise at the back door, and that when he went out to remonstrate with them they attacked and stabbed him to death.

To the 150,000 'DAILY MIRROR' READERS.

H. SAMUEL wishes to say this morning that he will send free and post free to everyone a copy of his Massive Book of Manufactures — lavishly and vividly illustrated—containing clearly worded accurate particulars of thousands of Bargains in WATCHES, CLOCKS, CH INS, RINGS, BRACELETS, BROOCHES, PINS, FANCY GO DS, + LATE, CUTLERY, BICYCLES, &c.

CUTLERY, BICVCLES, &c.

All that is necessary is a 3d, post card.

All that is necessary is a 3d, post card.

Because you'll find in it goods at price lower than any ordinary retailer could set at.

H. Samuel has built up his present world-wide trade—his enormous business extending to 23 of Britain!

Busiest Cities — entirely by selling satisfactory goods at next to actual cost prices, and offering to gEPUND Internet.

A MONTHIS FREE

TRIAL is first allowed. Write this very day for that Book to

H. SAMUEL, 83. Market St., MANCHESTER. FREE PRIZES

BATH CHAIRS AND BABY CARRIAGES.

Supplied on Easy Terms from 6/- per Month.

Enjoying the use of same while it is being paid.
Designs Post Free. W. J. HARRIS & Co.,

51, Rye Lane, Peckham, London, and Branches

A TIP WORTH HAVING I NOOD-MILNE

RUPTURE BOOK FREE.

Home Method That Has Succeeded in

MR. W. HARDING

"MIRROR'S" NON-STOP MOTOR TRIALS.

Four More Entries Make a Total of Eighteen Competitors.

OFFICIAL SANCTION ESSENTIAL.

Eighteen motor-cars have now been entered for

Mr. George du Cros makes the list even more representative than it was before by provisionally entering a car made by the well-known firm of Pan-

The following is Mr. du Cros's letter:-

(To the Editor of the Daily Mirror.)

With reference to the non-stop trial being organ-ised by your journal, we think the idea an ex-tremely good one. We will enter a car provisionally for this competition, and shall be pleased to receive full particulars as to the conditions and rules under which the competition will be conducted, so that we may definitely decide and make arrangements as soon as possible.

(For George Du Cros) A. W. C. Panhard et Levassor, 14, Regent-street, S.W., July 5.

One of the latest to join the competitors is Mr. Ernest Hutton, a well-known racing driver.

Mr. Hutton raced as far back as 1901 in the Nice-Salon-Nice race, in which he was second. Last year he won the 200 guinea cup of the Irish Automobile Club and three cups at the Southport speed meeting. Mr. Hutton writes :-

(To the Editor of the Daily Mirror.)

With reference to your proposed non-stop trial of motor-cars, I shall be glad to enter a car. car that I should prefer to enter for the Reliability Trial would be the new three-cylinder, 8-h.p. Panhard; but unless the date is fixed some time ahead I fear that owing to the very large number of orders I shall be unable to obtain a Chassis for use in the trial.

With regard to the conditions of the trial, one point occurs to me, that there should be a definite time limit for the duration of the trial, as owing time limit for the duration of the trial, as owing to the great reliability of modern cars it is highly probable that the trials will extend over a very long period, and it would throw, a very great burden upon the entrants if the trials were unduly extended for more than, say, a month.

In conclusion, I must certainly say that I consider these reliability trials, such as you are organising, to be of the very greatest value to the automobile industry in this country, more especially if the trial is conducted over a very large area, as I have always found that after race meetings and trials have been held in certain localities the number of purchasers in that district of automobiles has largely increased. mobiles has largely increased.

J. ERNEST HUTTON.

The sixteenth entry is by Mr. J. R. Richardson. He writes:-

(To the Editor of the Daily Mirror.)

Tam in receipt of a copy of your paper containing the reference to proposed non-stop motor trials, and I beg to state that I should be prepared to eater a car for these trials, subject to their being held under the auspices of the Automobile Club of Great Britain and Ireland, the rules and conditions governing the trials being reasonable, and the date convenient.

Lincoln, July 2.

The Gordon-Bennett Winner.

Everyone knows that the Gordon-Bennet race at Homburg last month was won by a car made by the Georges-Richard-Brasier firm. The agents of that firm in London are Messrs. Mann and Overton's, and their manager writes as follows:—

(To the Editor of the Daily Mirror.)

Confirming the conversation of Mr. Claude Jöhnson, we have pleasure in provisionally entering a car for your non-stop run, and shall be (To the Editor of the Daily MIPPOP)

I am in receipt of a copy of your paper containing the reference to proposed nan-stop motor trials, and I beg to state that I should be prepared to enter a car for these trials, subject to their being held under the auspices of the Automobile Culo of Great Britian and Ireland, the rules and conditions governing the trials being reasonable, and the date convenient.

J. R. RICHARDSON.

Lincoln, July 2.

happy to take part in it provided the rules are not too arbitrary.

For Mann and Overton's, Ltd.

James C. Wolffe (Manager).

7a, Lower Belgrave-street, S.W., July 5.

Official Recognition Essential.

Official Recognition Essential.

Motorists are naturally anxious that the Mirror should recognise the Automobile Club as the body which has the control of motor competitions. There should be no anxiety on that point, as the Mirror has applied to the club to know what conditions it will be necessary to impose in order to obtain its official sanction. Further, only those drivers and cars will be admitted to the competition whose names appear on the Competitions Register of the club. The Mirror has refused to be connected in any way with a Challenge Cup, which it is proposed to establish in connection with non-stop runs, until the donor can assure the Mirror that competition for it will be subject to the rules of the Automobile Club.

Club.
The necessity for this precaution will be obvious when it is remembered that any motorist taking part in a trial or competition in this kingdom which is not authorised by the Automobile Club of Great Britain and Ireland, or in which drivers who are suspended from the Competitions Register of 'he club are taking part, may be suspended from taking part in motor competitions at home and abroad.

HEROES OF THE NON-STOP.

Mr. Weigel's Prowess in the "Mirror" Run Handsomely Recognised.

handsome silver challenge cup, value £210, was presented by Sir Thomas Dewar, M.P., yes-terday at the Savoy Hotel to Mr. D. M. Weigel of the Talbot Car Company, who drove 2,000 miles on the Daily Mirror non-stop run.

The cup can be competed for twice in any year under the conditions that the challenger must pay an entrance fee of £100, carry four persons in his car, have only three changes of drivers, fresh observers every 150 miles, and run 2,000 miles without stop of the engines. A challenge has already been received from M. Fournier, the famous French driver.

Lord Shrewsbury, the chairman of the Talbot Car Company, also presented Mr. Weigel with a solid silver cigar box, and Mr. T. W. Williams, of the Daily Mirror, and Mr. Harry Carter, of the North British Rubber Company, with handsome silver boxes suitably inscribed as souvenirs of the 2,000 miles record run.

SLAVES OF AN ASCOT DRESS.

Girls Overworked Through an Inconsiderate Customer

The moral which the Hon, Mrs. Alfred Lyttelton seeks to bring out in "Warp and Woof," at present being played by Mrs. Patrick Campbell, at the Vaudeville Theatre, was brought into prominence at the Westminster Police Court yesterday, when Mrs. Turner, a Court dressmaker, trading under the title of Madame Nina Clare, at Wilbraham-place, Sloane-street, was summoned for employing workgirls after proper hours

Miss Mabel Vines, a Government inspector, stated that on June 13—the Monday before Ascot three bodice hands, a skirt assistant, and three

DIRTY DICK'S D.D.

48-49, BISHOPSGATE ST. WITHOUT, E.C.,

BIRKBECK BANK

Current Accounts. 2 p.c. Interest allowed on minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £100. Deposits. 22 p.c. Interest allowed on Deposit Accounts. Advances made. Stocks and Shares bought fail odd, Apply C. F. RAVENSCROFT, Secretary, Southampton Bulkideng, High Holborn, W.C.

JAPAN'S FIGHT FOR FREEDOM.

The most superbly illustrated and hest written

Story of the War

ROSE SHOW. GREAT

Patroness: THE QUEEN.

TO-DAY the NATIONAL ROSE SOCIETY will hold their great Annual Show at the TEMPLE GARDENS, Thames Embankment, E.C., (by kind permission of Treasurer and Benchers of the Inner Temple). Three Champion Challenge Trophies will be competed for, also numerous other Prizes. The Band of the 1st Life Guards will be in attendance. Afternoon Tea. 1904 is a record rose year, and the Show will be more than ordinarily worth visiting. Admission: From 12 to 3.30, 5/-; 3.30 to 5.30, 2/6; 5.30 to 7.30, 1/-.

TO-DAY.

TEMPLE GARDENS.

TO-DAY.

RACING AT NOTTINGHAM AND SALISBURY.

Watson's Newmarket Stable Takes the Honours in the Midlands—The Warrior Scores at the Bibury Club Meeting.

"GREY FRIARS'S" NOTES AND SELECTIONS.

John Watson's (Newmarket) stable carried off the chief honours in winning no fewer than three out of chief honours in winning no fewer than three out of the six races comprising the programme. Mr. Leopold de Rothschild, Watson's chief patron, won the St. Alban's Handicap with that bonny little filly Catgut and the Rothschild Master of the Horse, as Mr. John Wood is familiarly described, scored in the Newark Handicap with Glandore. The third win for the stable was registered by Ferment, a youngster bred in the United States, and the property of the well-known American sportsman Mr. August Belmont, whose of the Atlantic. August Belmont, whose of the Atlantic of the third win for the stable was registered by Ferment Mr. August Belmont, whose of the Atlantic. The stable was remarkable men in his line, known on the turif, felt confident on the strength of the running behind Foundling at Alexandra Park that Ravenslight had a sound winning chance, so Mr. Hannam betted with his usual large-handedness. His example was followed by many of the skrewdest backers, who believe even more in his judgment than his good fortune. Mr. Russell Monro's Boycot had won a very good gallop when tried, and that candidate was eventually quoted at the same rates as Ravenslight. The Irish horse, President Rouvelt, arrived at Nottingham on Frieday last, and was much liked in his work, and 6 to I was freely taken about him. Catgut was backed at a point longer odds—on the same mark as Flower Seller, and there was money at "eights" of Noblesse, Morgendale, and Fleurette II.

Catgut's Victory.

Ravenslight indulged in some antics en route to the post till getting a friendly lead from Boycot. The race needs short description—Catgut began with her usual speed, and on settling down Catgut from Ravenslight was the order, and thus they raced to the finish, the Rothschild filly ultimately winning by a length from Ravenslight, with Boycot third and Flower Secler fourth.

The filly by Semptonius out of Queenwood won so easily from the highly-fancied Bombay at Alexandra Park that she was reckoned-quite a good thing yesterday for the Clumber Plate, and my impression on seeing the race was that she should have won. Her jockey, the Australian, F. Bullock, took matters altogether too leisurely, looking round instead of riding, albeit he was not at the time in front. So Queenwood fully got beaten not only by Ferment but by Mark Wood in their places. The first-mentioned had apparently few friends in the market. The filly was among "the others" in the betting. Indeed, there was no money tinceable to the control of the control o

Despite Ill-Luck.

Despite Ill-Luck.

The good-looking Lancet wore the Rothschild colours in the Holme Pierrepont Plate, but no good as a racer she will now be retired to the stud. The favourite, Minima, easily got beaten, and though having none the best of luck at the beginning, in getting badly away, and cannoned Itinerary, eventually wore the opposition down and scored from Keld, Queen of the Gipsies, and eleven others. Odds were laid on Bellivor Tor for the Savile Plate, but he did not succeed in giving the weight to James I., who practically made all the running.

Wistors to the Bibury Club Meeting found slight rain falling at Salisbury, and the prospect was none too promising, but by the time fixed for racing to commence an agreeable change took place, and the proceedings were decided under comfortable conditions. There was a fairly large attendance, and the fields were good.

Backers made a bad start in the Alle, Mark.

the field series were decided under contortaure out that the series of the first series of the first series of the first series of the first series of a length of the first series of

In the second stage of Nottingham July Meeting on Watson's (Newmarket) stable carried off the hife finonours in winning no fewer than three out of the six races comprising the programme. Mr. Leolold de Rothschild, Watson's chief patron, wan the thought the second of t thanks to a smart beginning, won the Wilton Handicap, La Valerie was the outsider of the quartette that turned out for the Dunbridge Selling Welter Handicap. There was some peculiar wagering on this event, as the other three runners fluctuated in this event, as the other three runners fluctuated in the market to a marked degree. Winkrose, who settled down favourite, never looked dangerous, and Rosegrove was hemmed in on the rails, and although Mr. Thursby got him out a bit, he got sandwiched between La Valerie and Cabman. In the Club Junior Home-bred Stakes Thrush, who frightened away all opposition except that of Amphinome, won easily.

SELECTIONS FOR TO-DAY.

SALISBURY.

2. 0.—All-Aged Maiden Plate—Enceladus, 2.30.—Bibury Stakes—CLOVERLEY.
2.30.—Bibury Stakes—CLOVERLEY.
3.0.—Juvenile Selling Plate—GREY TOE.
3.30.—Pembroke Handicap—THUNDERBOLT.
4. 0.—Hursboume Stakes—STANDEN.
4.30.—Club Selling Welter Handicap—CARFAX.
5. 0.—Johnstone Stakes—ESQUIEE.

PONTEFRACT.

2. 0.—Trial Plate—Blue Diamond. 3.10.—West Riding Handicap—Castro. 3.45.—Champagne Trial—Post Karte.

SPECIAL SELECTION. CASTRO.
GREY FRIARS.

THE TWO BEST THINGS.

Wiring from Salisbury last night, "The Squire'

"I think the following should carry off their events at the second day's sport at the Bibury Club meeting:—

4.30.—Club Welter—MALADROIT.
5. 0.—Johnstone Stakes—HATHOR GELDING."

RACING RETURNS.

NOTTINGHAM.-TUESDAY 2.0.—NETHERPIELD SELLING PLATE of 106 sevs. for two year-olds, winner to be soil for 50 sons. Five further two year-olds, winner to be soil for 50 sons. Five further two years of the first plate of the f

Sir R. Waldie Griffith's SHOOTING STAR, 50 G. McCall 2

Also ran; Scotch Mixture (8st 61b), New Cut 6st 61b,
Crecoste 8st 61b, Curse (8st 61b), New Cut 6st 61b,
Crecoste 8st 61b, Curse (8st 61b), Name Prover (8st 61b),
Crecoste (8st 61b), Curse (1st 61b), New Cut 6st 61b,
Crecoste (8st 61b), Curse (1st 61b), New Cut 6st 61b,
Crecoste (1st 61b), Curse (1st 61b), New Cut 6st 61b,
Crecoste (1st 61b), Curse (1st 61b), New Cut 6st 61b,
Crecoste (1st 61b), Curse (1st 61b), New Cut 6st 61b,
Crecoste (1st 61b), Curse (1st 61b), Shootine
Sixt, or any other (offered). Won by three lengths; half as inently between the second and third. The Sixt 61b,
Crecoste (1st 61b), Curse (1st 61b), Shootine
Sixt, or any other (offered). Won by three lengths; half as inently between the second and third. The Archer for 180 guiness.

Archer for 180 guineas, and lattic Doily 201d to Mr. C.
2,55.—CLUMBER PLATE of 106 sovs, for two-pear-olds,
Mr. Andiona st entry. Five furlones, straight
Mr. Andiona st entry. Five furlones, straight
Mr. Andiona straight
Mr. Andiona straight
Mr. W. Taylor Shappe's MARK WOOD, St. Unbandes,
Mr. W. Taylor Shappe's MARK WOOD, St. Unbandes,
WOOD, 34 and 107 straight
Mr. B. H. Henning's F by SEMPRON E. Wheatley
WOOD, 34 and 107 straight
Mr. B. H. Benning's F by SEMPRON F. Bullock
Also ran: Loyse colt (9st 3b), Bob Sawyer (8st 10b), Chalice colt (6st 10b), American Lad (8st 10b), Day of Rectoning (8st 7b), Suntai filly (8st 7b), Fride of Lothair (8st 7b). Winner tails about 10 straight 10 cat 710).

(Winner trained by W. Watsan).
Betting-6 to 4 agst Queenwood filly, 9 to 2 the Suntai filly, 6 to 1 Mark Wood, 7 to 1 the Loyse colt, 10 to 1 Forment or any other. Won by a length; a neck between second and third.

Syra, at I. T. Fennick's PELO DE SE, Syrs, Set Colone H. T. Fennick's PELO DE SE, Syrs, Set W. Lane 2 Mr. C. D. Marnes's GUILTY, 4yrs, 74 10th ... Butchers 5 A Also ran; Castrin, 1878, 78 7th, Cyme Gyrs, 74 61b, Parapet Gyrs, 1988, 1989, 19 (Winner trained by Marnes.)

Betting—6 to 4 on Bellivor Tor, 2 to 1 agat James I., 5 to 1.

Experiment of the trained by Marnes.)

Betting—6 to 4 on Bellivor Tor, 2 to 1 agat James I., 5 to 1.

Separated the second and third.

SALISBURY TUESDAY

SAIJSBURY.—TUESDAY.

2.0—TULY WEIFER HANDIGAP of 150 sovs; second to receive 20 sovs. Seven furthers straight.

Mr. W. Burrows's PALAGE YARD, by Buckingam—Bardoin, 3yrs. 7st 51b.

Mr. F. Cobb's MORNI, 5yrs. 6 10b.

E. Pratt Mr. F. Cobb's MORNI, 5yrs. 6 10b.

L. Pratt Mr. F. Cobb's MORNI, 5yrs. 6 10b.

Also ran: Swooper (6yrs, 8st 11b), Country Bumpkin (4yrs, 8st 10b), Bopetoin (5yrs. 8st 51b), Corporated (4yrs, 8st 10b), Bopetoin (5yrs. 8st 51b), Corporated (4yrs. 8st 51b), Sweet Melody (5yrs. 8st 51b), Corporated (4yrs. 8st 51b), Sweet Melody (5yrs. 8st 51b), Corporated (4yrs. 8st 51b), Sweet Melody (5yrs. 8st 51b), Corporated (4yrs. 8st 51b), Sweet Melody (5yrs. 8st 51b), Corporated (4yrs. 8st 51b), Sweet Melody (5yrs. 8st 51b), Corporated (4yrs. 8st 51b), Sweet Melody (5yrs. 8st 51b), Corporated (4yrs. 8st 51b), Sweet Melody (5yrs. 8st 51b), Corporated (4yrs. 8st 51b), Sweet Melody (5yrs. 8st 51b), Corporated (5yrs. 8st 51b), Sweet Melody (5yrs. 8st an and soring we winner on the greends of hemping and boring was overreled.

2.30.—ANDOVER STAKES (Handicap) of 150 sovs. Two Mr. C. Hibbert's SALV Mr. by Florentine-Wealth, aged, 11st 91b.

Mr. C. Hibbert's SALV Mr. by Florentine-Wealth, aged, 11st 91b.

Mr. Wm. Johnston's BONNE SPHINGERIBLI, aged, 2 Mr. A. Waltor's MAT SALLEH, 9rs, 10st 81b.

Alor ran: Silphtrift (Sry. 11st 91b, Gar. Dansey 3. Alor ran: Silphtrift (Sry. 11st 91b, Gar. Dansey 3. Gar. Salley Mr. Salley 10st 91b, and Edity (3rs, 10st 21b). Indeed, (aged, 10st 51b), and Edity (3rs, 10st 21b). Indeed by W. Nightingston, 15b, and Edity (3rs, 10st 21b). Indeed by W. Nightingston, 15b, and Edity (3rs, 10st 21b). Indeed by W. Nightingston, 15b, and Edity (3rs, 11st 91b, Gar. Salley, 10st 91b, and 11st 91b, and 11st

Bonnie Springeffeld, II to 2 Stabthrift, 7 to 1 Mat Salleh, 100 to 5 any other, Won by a head, four length divided the second and third.

3.0.—A SELLINE, Won by a head, four length divided the second and third.

3.0.—A SELLINE HOUSE ONE, SER Infoguation, and the second manner of the second second manner of the second manne

Mit. J. L. Dugdale's EXTRAY AGANCE, 37rs. 6st 1016 3
Alie ran: Recholer's Fancy (37rs. 28s) (30 m Club 15)rs. 6st 710b. Country Roy (47rs. 7st 101b). Mary Belle 37rs. 7st 51b). Relad Road 37rs. 7st 111b). Stream of 6old filly (37rs. 6st 91b). Winner trained by Owner.)

Betting—4 to 1 agas Silent Pricad 3 to 2 ach Xanoni Agas and Xanoni Agas (30 m Club and Country Roy, 10 to 1 Extrawagance or any other Coffered). Won by a length; four lengths 30 m Club and Country Roy, 10 to 1 Extrawagance or any other Coffered). Won by a length; four lengths 30 m Club and Country Roy, 10 to 1 Extrawagance or any other Coffered). Won 7st a length; four lengths 30 m Club and Country Roy, 10 to 1 Extrawagance or any other Coffered). Won 7st a length (3 m Coffered). Won

Sir John Thursby's ROSEGROVE, 577, 10st 11b

Also ran; Whitness (577, 11st 91b), Mr. G. Thursby 3

Also ran; Whitness (577, 11st 91b), Mr. G. Thursby 3

Betting— Winner trained by A. Sadler, John C. Sadler, J. Sadler, POINTERS FROM THE BOOK.

The following should have good chances in their respective races, on book form, at Salisbury:—

espective races, on book form, at Salisbury:—
2. 0.—All-Aged Maiden Plate—Str Dennis.
2.30.—Bibury: Stakes—Cloverley.
3. 0.—Ivenile Selling Plate—Grey Tor.
3.30.—Pembroke Handicap—Wild Lad.
4. 0.—Hurstbourne Stakes—Standen.
4.30.—Club Selling Welter Handicap—FAMA
Machine Stakes—Jean's Folly.
5. 0.—Johnstone Stakes—Jean's Folly.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMMES.

SALISBURY.

SALISBURY.

2. 0 — ALL-AGED MAIDEN PLATE of 103 soav. Five Mar. A. Burleng, straight.

Mar. A. Burleng, straight.

Mar. A. Burleng, straight.

Burleng, Straight.

Mar. A. Burleng, straight.

Mar. A. Burleng, straight.

Mr. A. Burleng, straight.

Mr. A. Burleng, straight.

Mr. A. Burleng, straight.

Mr. Gorger Thursby's Cale Noti'. G. Edwards 2 6 8 Major J. R. Scott's Ripple.

Mr. Gorger Thursby's Cale Noti'. G. Edwards 2 6 6 8 Major J. R. Scott's Ripple.

Mr. C. D. Barrow's Devoniensis .

Mr. G. A. Pennito's Siam J. Fowney 3 8 10 Mr. G. A. Pennito's Siam J. Fowney 3 8 10 Mr. T. H. Burrow's Captain Cook Mr. Peebles 3 8 10 Mr. T. H. Burrow's Captain Cook Mr. Peebles 3 8 10 Mr. T. H. Burrow's Captain Cook Mr. Peebles 3 8 10 Mr. T. H. Burrow's Captain Cook Mr. Peebles 3 8 10 Mr. T. H. Burrow's Captain Cook Mr. Peebles 3 8 10 Mr. T. H. Burrow's Captain Cook Mr. Peebles 3 8 10 Mr. G. Ook Peebles 3 8 10 Mr. G. Ook Peebles 3 8 10 Mr. G. Ook Peebles 3 8 10 Mr. G. Gold's Veled Grip ... First 3 8 7 Mr. G. Gold's Veled Grip ... Fritat 3 8 7 Mr. A. Smart's Shipton Lassio (310) ... Fritat 3 8 7 Mr. A. Smart's Shipton Lassio (310) ... Fritat 3 8 7 Mr. A. Smart's Shipton Lassio (310) ... Fritat 3 8 7 Mr. A. Smart's Shipton Lassio (310) ... Fritat 3 8 7 Mr. A. Smart's Shipton Lassio (310) ... Fritat 3 8 7 Mr. A. Smart's Shipton Lassio (310) ... Fritat 3 8 7 Mr. A. Smart's Shipton Lassio (310) ... Fritat 3 8 7 Mr. A. Smart's Shipton Lassio (310) ... Fritat 3 8 7 Mr. Scott's Ecosse ... Sajor Scott 3 8 7 Mr. Mr. Scott's Ecosse ... Sajor Scott 3 8 7 Mr. Scott's Ecosse ... Sajor Scott 3 8 7 Mr. Scott's Ecosse ... Sajor Scott 3 8 7 Mr. Scott's Ecosse ... Sajor Scott 3 8 7 Mr. Scott's Ecosse ... Sajor Scott 3 8 7 Mr. Scott's Ecosse ... Sajor Scott 3 8 7 Mr. Scott's Ecosse ... Sajor Scott 3 8 7 Mr. Scott's Ecosse ... Sajor Scott 3 8 7 Mr. Scott's Ecosse ... Sajor Scott 3 8 7 Mr. Scott's Ecosse ... Sajor Scott 3 8 7 Mr. Scott's Ecosse ... Sajor Scott 3 8 Mr. Scott's Ecosse ... Sajor Scott 3 8 Mr. Scott's Ecosse ... Sajor Scott 3 8 Mr. S

	Mr. E. Cohen's Kag Mag Private 2 6 8 Mr. L. W. Humby's Guy Middleton Bussell 2 6 8 Capt. Phelps's The Prince Sentence 2 6 8
I	Mr. John Robinson's Ziria
	PAPER SELECTIONS.—Jockey—Captain Cook. Ghilton's Guide—Enceladus. Racing World—Tripping or Enceladus. Racehorse—Enceladus. Sporting World—Lilburn.
1	2.30 BIBURY STAKES (Handicap) of 200 sovs; to be straight. One mile, yrs st. ib
9	Mr. H. de Paravicini's Vidame Owner 6 12 12 Mr. S. Hill-Wood's Cloverley Clements 6 12 7
	Mr. W. Chatterton's Zanetto Sadler jun. a 10 10
ą	Wr G Edwardes's Speig Major Edwards 3 10 8
2	Captain Bewicke's Ticket o' Leave J. Powney 3 10 7
3	ABOVE ARRIVED.
3	Mr. G. Lambton's StealawayOwner a 11 8 Mr. Schwabe's KillaidenPickering 3 10 12
1	Mr. F. B. Savill's Avebury
į	Mr. G. Miller's PlatoOwner 3 10 7
	PAPER SELECTIONS,—Chilton's Guide—Cloverley. Racing World—Cloverley. Racehorse—Cloverley. Gale's Special
	-Vidame. Sporting World-Vidame. Sporting Luck-Cloverley.
ĕ	3.0-JUVENILE SELLING PLATE of 103 sovs, for two-year-olds: winner to be sold for 50 sovs.
	Five furlance straight
	Sir J. Thursby's Hattpury
	Sir E. Paget's Lord Cork
	Mr. Orr-Ewing's f by Wolf Crag-Catchword Robson 8 11 Mr. Walters's by Greenlawn-CowrieOwner8 11
9	Mr. J. B. Joel's Cape Rose
	Lord Carnarvon's Grey Toe
	Mr. S. Hill-Wood's EmbertonClem nts 8 12
	Major Edwards's Perita Owner 8 11 Sir C. Nugent's West 'astle Owner 8 11
	ABOVE ARRIVED.

Mr. C. Levy's St. RolloxBurbidge	yrs	st	lb
dr. C. Levy's St. RolloxBurbidge	4	7	14
dr. F. P. Lysaght's Truefitt, by Earwig-True Art	1	-	-
Mr. Gore	3	7	7
Mr. J. Gubbins's Isalian Beauty Sir C. Nugent	3	4	0
ABOVE ARRIVED.
Mr. Buchanan's Kano Major Edwards	4	9	0
Mr. Sleath Skelton's Happy Slave Mr. Peebles	5	8	13
Mr. George Faber's BobrinskiDarling	3	8	9
Mr. E. H. Polehampton's Thunderbolt Bates	4
Captain Bewicke's Wild LadJ. Powney	4	8	6
Mr. H. J. Hunt's St. JoieOwner	3	7	1
Mr. L. J. Shirley's YabMr. Thirlwell	5	7	0
	m:	140
PAPER SELECTIONS.—Jockey—St. Rollox. Juido—Kano. Racing World—Thunderbolt or	Chi	110	11.8
duide-Kano. Racing World-Thunderbolt or	TIT	len	LL.
Racehorse-Wild Lad. Gale's Special-Thunderb	01t.
A O HITPOTROTTRATE CTLATETE - C 00 C	da	L	24
1.0-HURSTBOURNE STAKES of 20 sovs en	ton,	II.	16
furlongs.	ius.	E.	11
141-01123.		216	24

furiongs,	st 1
Sir J. Thursby's Standen	9
Mr. T. Simpson Jay's Ormazd (31b)Sadler, jun.	8 1
Sir Ernest Paget's Lord Cork (31b)J. Chandler	8 1
Capt. F. Forester's c by Islington-Mouche d'Or (81b)
Fallon	8	6
ABOVE ARRIVED.	1925	Č
Mr. J. Buchanan's EsclavoMajor Edwards	-9	0
Mr. J. W. Larnach's c by Jeddah-Mary Ann II.
Sanderson	9	0
Mr. L. de Roths:nild's Lador		0
Sir J. Thursby's Barcroft	9	0
Sir R. Waldie Griffith's Shilfa (3lb) R. Sherwood	8 1	1
Sir R. Waldie Griffith's c by Ladas-St. Ia (31b)
R. Sherwood	8 1
Mr. F. W. Lambton's Repeater (3lb) Mr. G. Lambton	8 1	1
Mr. R. C. Garton's f by Nunthorpe-Canter (61b)
A. Taylor	8 -	0
Capt. Freville Cookson's Coy Duck (71b) J. Chandler	8	4
Mr. W. B. Purefoy's Michet (8lb)Fallon	8
Sir Daniel Cooper's Setilla (101b)Mr. Gilpin	.8	1
PAPER SELECTIONS Jockey-Standen, Chi	lton'
Guide-Standen, Racing World-Standen or Esclavo.	Race	-

۰	A 211-CLUB SELLING WELTER HANDICA	E.)I]	103
8	4.30 sovs; to be ridden by members of	the	Ch	ab.
ı	Seven furlongs, straight. Mr. C. de Paravicini's La ValerieA. Sadler	Vre	et	lh
ı	Mr. C d. Dennist T. Vilale A Colle	340	11	10
ı	Mr. O. de Paravicini s La VaierieA. Badier	0	11	TO
3	Mr. G. Miller's LakotaOwner	8	11	7
ı	Sir John Thursby's Ben Davies G. Edwards	5	11	- 3
ł	Major J. D. Edwards's SolanoOwner	3	11	ā
۰	The state of the s	6	10	. 9
ı	Mr. A. Walton's Carfax	0	10	-
8	ABOVE ARRIVED.
ŧ				-
ı	Mr. W. Goodwin's MaladroitOwner	4	13	- 6
ı	Mr. A. J. Schwabe's Curraghmore Pickering		11
3	Mr. R. Gore's DeseoOwner	6	11	11
	Mr. E. J. Percy's m by Red Prince IIFama		20	100
			11	~
	Raisin
	Mr. P. P. Peebles's ColchesterOwner			13

PAPER SELECTIONS.—Jockey—Ben Da Guide—Donorina. Racing World—Maladro mare. Racehorae—Donorina. Sporting Wo Sporting Luck—Fama mare.

5.0-JOHNSTONE STAKES of 10 sovs each, h to the winner), with 200 sovs added, for	ft (al year-olds. One mile and a half,	st lt
Mr. H. T. Barclay's Douane	7 13
ABOVE ARRIVED.
Mr. W. Hall Walker's Jean's FollyRobinson Mr. E. A. Wigan's First ShotFallon	9 4
Mr .J. H. Peard's Cherry PipFallon	9 0
Mr. W. M. G. Singer's c by Matchmaker-Lottie Hampton A. Taylor	9 (
Mr. E. A. Wigan's f by Orion-LapsaFallon	7 13
Mr. L. W. Humby's King Cole (h-b)Russell
PAPER SELECTIONS.—Jockey—Jean's Folly. Ch Guide—Cherry Pip. Racing World—Cherry Pip. Rac	cehors

-Esquire. Sporting World-	Hathor gelding. Racenorse
	EFRACT.
2 0-TRIAL HANDICAP	PLATE of 100 sovs. Five
a Blue Diamond a 9 7	yrs st lb
Imola 3 8 12 a Pindar 8 8 11
Baydale 3 8 10	Gertrude 3 7 12
a Black Mail 5 8 7	Kill Hill 3 7 5
Midshipman 3 8 8	Lucain 3 7 9

a Sunflower a Quisisana Queen of the Gip-	3	8	6	Martina 3 7 3 Irene Adler 3 7 0
PAPER SELEC	a	ONS	3	Jockey-Sunflower. Chilton's
Guide—Lucain. Ra Baydale. Racehorse Diamond. Sporting	-	Blue	Dis	dd-Queen of the Gipsies or amond. Sporting World-Blue indar.

OF OPECULATION SELLING DI ATE AL 150
2.35 SPECULATION SELLING PLATE of 150	SUYS,	IOL
aDr Jim yrs st lb aHandcuff	yrs st	16
a Wair Meddler 5 9 11 aQuisisana	3 9	0
aRenzo 5 9 11 aKendal King	3 8	ě
aQuadrant 4 9 4 aScamander aWoolstone 3 9 0 aLady Fullerton f	2 7	1 a woolstone 5 5 0 abady Function t		-

-	1
BOY	18
t i	ņ
7	B
1	-
6 1	ŧ
-	7 soit 7 7 7 6 6

3.45 WEST RIDING CHAMPAGNE TRIAL STAKES of 400 sovs, added to a sweepstakes of 10 sovs novata f lden Fringe c eat Tom rwinian nesius p of Peril

| A. | L - VORKHIKE SELLING HANDICAP PLATE of the property of

SELECTIONS —Racing World—Gallant Blue or Racehorse—Sertorius. Sporting World—Ser-

THE LINGFIELD PARK JULY MEETING.

The Lingfeid Park July Meeting has every promise of being a great success. The £3,000 Plate to be decided next Friday and the Great Foal Plate on Saturday, which with its surplus will be of the approximate value of £1,000, should in themselves be of very much Newmarker. Stakes winner are amongst the probable statters, which also include Lochyan, Satplette, Countermark, and several other animals which have already carmed brackets or proved themselves useful eight Rock. Sand should early. This is now set at rest by the fact that his weight has been declared as 9st 4bb. For the Great Foal Plate many of the smartest youngsters have engagements. Petit Ben, Thrush, Dueen of the Earth, William the First, Galantrie, and others still retabiling their nominations.

YACHTING IN AMERICA.

MARRIEHEAD, Monday.
The sloop-tigged yacht Little Rhody, belonging to Mr.
F. Millinghast, of the Rhode Island Yacht Club, has on the cup presented by Sir Thomas Lipton for a 30 ile ocean handicap race from Gravesend to Marble-irting with the other yachts at eleven o'clock on rday morning, Little Rhody, which received a time rance of 2br. 49min., arrived here at 9hr. 38min. evening.—Reuter.

ATHLETIC CHAMPION.

Thomas F. Kiely, of Ireland, has won the All-Round Championship of the World at the World's Fair under the stapples of the American Athletic Union, scoring four firsts in anne counts. Return.

VARSITY LAWN TENNIS.

presentatives of the sister 'Varsities began the al lawn-tennis contest at Queen's Club, West ington, yesterday. The single-handed matches due programme, and in the result Cambridge won matches to $, 10 sets to $, and $6 games to $6.

The single And won his matches with ease. The sails:

Les will be played to-day.

INTERNATIONAL GAMES.

The challenge round of the International Lawa-Teonis hampionship was concluded at Wimbledon yesterday. Two matches were set for decision, but in one W. emaire, who was indisposed, scratched to H. L. Doherty, the other P. de Bornam showed greatly-improved form, and gave F. L. Riseley a good game.

In the eath, dowever, Riseley won by 3 sets to 1, with control of the control of the providingly won by 5 matches to 0.

CENTURIES OF THE DAY.

Two 100's were hit yesterday, King making his second in the Gentlemen and Players' match and Haigh making a much-needed century for Yorkshire against Derby.

Total. Batsman. Time. Best hits. 103's ... King (Players) ... 135min. 104's ... 165's ... King (Players) ... 135min. Incomplete, we Signifes not-out.

officially announced from Sunderland that J. E. the veteran goalkeeper of the Sunderland Club titls international, has been transferred to Liver The transfer fee is said to be a small one. Doig en with the Sunderland Club since 1869.

World-Whipsnade and Castro. Racchorse-Whipsnade. ANOTHER CRICKET RECORD.

King Scores a Second Century-Braund's Extraordinary Bowling-Knight's Misfortune

AMATEURS' COLLAPSE.

The amateurs cut up very badly yesterday against the bowling of Braund and Arnold, and were all dismissed for 171. This was an extremely poor score for a team including several of the best proor score for a team including several of the best batsmen in the world, and no fewer than four county captains. Fry made a few runs by bright batting, but even he showed a strange inability to cope with Braund's leg-breaks, and made more than one bad stroke before he was bowled neck and crop by the Somerset man.

Poor as was the Gentlemen's score, it would have been much worse but for a plucky effort on the part of Hesketh-Prichard, who stayed in for fifty minutes playing the "goose-game," while Jackson hit brilliantly alf round the wicket. Some comment was caused by the fact that Lilley decided to bat again instead of sending the Gentlemen in, as they failed to save the follow-on by 7 runs, but with the possibility of rain to spoil the wicket he was probably right.

Fast Bowler Difficult.

Fast Bowler Difficult.

Hesketh-Prichard was very dangerous in the Players' second innings, and for a time the Gentlemen carried all before them. The helding was wonderful, and after Hayward had been caught at the wicket off the Hampshire man, Braund, and Iremonger fell to splendid catches in the slips, and Denton was bowled first ball by Prichard, who looked like running through the Players. Knight was also put out of the batting list with severe blow from Prichard on his left hand, which broke a bone.

Then came a wonderful innings by King, who, although chosen as a substitute for Tydlesley, equalled Foster's record in the match by scoring another century. His batting was superb, and he will long remember the Gentlemen v. Players match in which he played as a substitute. As the game stands the Gentlemen have little chance of even making a draw of it if the fine weather lasts.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PLAY.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PLAY.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PLAY.

Blowing up the groot start they had made on Monday the Players had all the best of an eventful day's cricket it. Lord's yesterday, and left off at half-past six with an overwhelming advantage.

The wicket, about which there had been a good deal of anxiety almost from the had been a good deal of anxiety almost from the planting the match and all the match and any starting proved anything but a grateful task. One serious accident marred the pleasure of the day, knight while batting having his left-hadad so bodly carried the planting that the same had been always to be a support of the planting that had been into the planting that had been the morning; in which H. K. and did well for half an hour in the morning; but after Fry left at 46 there was a doleful ollapse.

A Plucky Stand.

A Plucky Stand.

Jackton went in third wicket down at 60, and was the last man out, his 50 being in the circumstances a remarkable display. He was at times in trouble with the last man out, his 50 being in the circumstances a remarkable display. He was at times in trouble with the last man of the last

First Innings.	Second Innings.
Hayward, st Payne b	a Danna h Daishand
Bosanquet 88 Iremonger, run out 10	c Payne b Prichard 14 c Foster b Prichard 24
Denton, c Jessop b
Prichard 4	b Prichard 0
Knight, c Foster b	retired hurt 2
Braund, c Foster b
Prichard 0	c Bosanquet b Jackson 2 c Bosanquet b Prichard 14
Arnold, b Jessop 8 Gunn (J.), lbw b Bosan-	c bosanquet b Prichard 14
quet 28	st Payne b Bosanquet 17
King, c McDonell b	not out105
Prichard	100 000105
quet 50	b Jackson 31
Lilley, c Payne b Jackson 4	b Jones 17
Hearne, not out 0 Extras 24	Extras 21
-
Total327	Total (for 8 wkts) 247

HAIGH DESCRES VODESHIDE

to the bowler, but the chances were very difficult. He it ten fours.

Mitchell, who stayed for ninety minutes, helped to make the man hour, this being the turning point in the dame, and the man hour, the being the turning point in the dame, and whitehead assisted in partnerships that realised 58 and 6 respectively.

respectively. The results of 88 and 48 emperiors where the respectively to Haigh to Haigh, the last five wholes yielded selector, them 205 runs, the innings not being over until salf-past four for 500. Derbyshire thus left on the first innings by 39 runs. If the hour and the salf is salf in the salf in th

DERBYSHIRE.
First Innings.	Second Innings.
T. G. Wright, b Hirst 85	b Hirst 16
C. A. Ollivierre, c Tunni-	O MANAGO 10
cliffe b Oyston 29	c Wainwright b Myers 32
Storer, c and b Haigh 41	C Walin wright of Mayers 52
E. M. Ashcroft, c Hawke	The state of the s
b Hirst 10	c and b Hirst 3
G. Curgenven, b Hirst 2	b Myers 4
Morton, b Haigh 55	c and b Myers 8
Needham, b Haigh 72	not out 8
Warren, c Wilkinson b	acc out illimited to Oyston 29
Cadman, b Haigh 10	not out 8
Humphries, not out 11
Bestwick, c and b Haigh 15
Extras 19	Extras 7
	AND THE PERSON NAMED IN
Total378	Total (for 5 wkts) 86
YORKSHIRE
Lord Hawke, b Warren. 19	Wainwright, c Storer b
H. Wilkinson, c Ollivierre b Cadman 42	Warren 29
Myers, c and b Cadman. 16	Whitehead, c Morton b
Tunnicliffe, c Ollivierre	Curgenven 25
b Cadman 0	Oyston, c Curgenven b
Hirst, c Ollivierre b
Cadman 18	Hunter, not out 6
Haigh, c Needham b	Extras 11
Bestwick104	Total319
Descript	1001

r. w. 76 3 54 0 Wainwright . 18 Whitehead . 9

LIVERPOOL.

Prest land, require 201 runs to win.

Prest score and analysis:

LIVERPOOL.

L Extras 19

Fell mere, not out 11

Fell mere, not out 11

Fell mere 11

Fell mere 12

Fotal 20

Fotal 170

J. F. Marsh. Ibw b b 18

Broom 11

S. W. Maan, c Warlow 70

S. W.

HENLEY ROYAL REGATTA.

Full Descriptions and Returns of Yesterday's Racing.

Henley Regatta opened in dull weather, but with the conditions good for rowing. Below will be found the returns of the day's sport:—

found the returns of the day's sport:—

DIAMOND CHALLENGE SCULIS.
Third Heart.—A Hamilton Clonette (L.R.C.), Berks, 1; D.C.
There was a splendid race to the mile post. Stuart was always a little in front, and led to the top of the island by a quarter of a length. He then added a trifle quarters of a length in front. He maintained his advantage past the boathoute, where he was well splettered. his time thou being daing live. After going here quarters to the standard of the day of the control of th well, and showed capital form and style.

Fourth Heat.—L. F. Scholes (Toronto R.C., Canada), I. S. R. Wells (Bedford Rowing Club), Scholes, its culting at 38 to 34 by his opponent, led at once, and was clear at the top of the island, and had gained quite three lengths at the Rectory. Passing the boarhouse at Fawley Scholes was two and a half lengths to the good, in 4min, 19vcc, and then, only padding, Dania, 33,cc. won as he fleed by four lengths. Time the Canadian won as he liced by four lengths. Time, Bank, Saccia.

Buth, Saccia.—Guy Rixon (Kingston R.C.), Bucks, 1bst. 8b, 1, Viscount Mishon (Guards B.C.), Becks, 1bst. 8b, 1, Viscount Mishon (Guards B.C.), Becks, 1bst. 2b, 2.

Rixon starred at 35, and went away so fast that he was half a length clear at the top of the island. The after a part by Mailon, Rixon passed Fawley a length after a part by Mailon, Rixon passed Fawley a length, and a half to the good, the time being dmin, Ibec. He added slightly to this up to the mile, when he was added slightly to this up to the mile, when he was matters caulty, and won comfortably by three-quarters of a length. Time, Juni, Sec.

Sixth Heat.—F. S. Kelly (Balliol Cellage Oxford), 1842 8B, Berks, 1, C. G. Koxy Monat Curversity Colling the faster stroke, Kelly west rawry of mec, and draw clear in a minute. Mirrowards to rawr led at such a rate that reaching Enwley in 4n n 18sec, he was nearly four lengths in fronts. Then keeping to the seather Smin, 1sec. (RAND CHALL SCE CUI).

of the inver, is wen as he liked by tour reng is. Inme, however, and the like of the like

THAMES CHALLENGE CUP.

Second Heat.—Thames R.C., Bucks, 1; Kingston R.C.,

1 1641. "Dannes R.C., Ducks, 1; Kingston R.C., go gt 40 to Kingston's 38, Thames led at once, by the shelter, and were almost a quarrer of a other good at the top of the thelter. Slowly sing Fawley in 3ain, 32cc., their herd was quite and a quarter. In the last half of a mile, the wind was almost dead ahead, Tammes the there was was almost dead ahead, Tammes affect length. Time, Smin, 18cc.

Heats—First Trinity (Cambis), Bucks, 1; Molescy, th, Berks, 2,

Small Advertisements

ser received at the offices of the "Daily Mirror," 45 and 46, New Bond Street, W., and 2, Carmelite Street, E.C., between the hours of 10 and 5 (Saturdays, 10 to 2), for insertion in the issue of the following day, at the rate of 12 words 1/- (Id. each word afterwards). Advertisements, if sent by post, must be accompanied by Postal Orders crossed BARCLAY and CO. (etamps will not be accepted). "Daily Mirror" advertisers can have replies to their advertisements sent free of charge to the "Daily Mirror" Offices, a box department having been opened for that purpose. If replies are to be forwarded, sufficient stamps to cover postage must be sent with the advertisement.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

MAN (young, educated) offers his services for confidentia work; highest references.—Write 1274, "Daily Mirror, 45, Now Bondest, W.

NEEDLEWORK. Open for weekly engagements, ladies WORK of any description wanted by young man; 22; tall, strong, willing; 4 years' good character.—Russell, SITUATIONS VACANT.

Domestic.

COOK wanted; wages £24 to £26; for one gentleman; age
20-25 —Call to day, Mr. D., 45, New Bondst, W.

20-25.—Call today, Mr. D. 45, New Bennet, W.

COOKS WANTED.—A little book, "Try It" by Mr.

Humphry i Mades et al. Try in the property of Freeman's Delicions Gustard Powder and an money, will be forwarded post free to any address, along with a sample of Freeman's Delicions Gustard Powder and Kid Glose, or a set of six handoms Custard Glasses. This exceptional offer may not be repeated as all housewire, humskepper and cooks are implied easy of the property of CENERAL Servant wanted for Long Ditton; wages £20. HOUSEMAID (single-handed) wanted for the Isle of Wight; wages £18-£20.—Please apply to the Bond-street Bureau, 45, New Bond-st, W.

HOUSE-PARLOURMAID (good) wanted for Kensington; wages £22-£24; nice situation.—Please call at 45, New Bond-st. as soon as possible.

LADY-HELP wanted; 2 maids kept; refined home.—45,

MARRIED Couple wanted for Kent; man must be good indoor man-servant and wife plain cook; no family; wages £60.—Call to-day, Mrs. D., 45, New Bond-st, W.

Miscellaneous.

A GOOD Agont wanted; anyone with spare time may selay—Addrest Z. 1658. "Dally Mirror," A Carmelltest, E.C.

(ENTLEMANIX Youth required; shorthand and type-driving required, 1449, "Dally Mirror," 2, Carmelltest, E.C.

London, E.C.

GARDENING.

CUT ROSES; hybrid or tea scented; 100 superb specimen blooms, box included, carriage paid to London address, 5a., or 50 for 5s.; cash with order.—King, Okehurst, Bill-two-burst.

28 EXQUISITE IRISH FERNS, in variety, boudoir o. rockery decorations; 1s. 2d., free.—Miss Watson Terrace, Bantry, Cork.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ANKLES WEAK? Why? Explanatory booklet free.

ARE YOUR SHIRTS AND COLLARS WELL DRESSED of If not, post them to Thompson's Model Laundry, Mar-

ASTHMA CURED by Zematone.—Write for free trial box to Cornford, 4, Lloyd's-av, London.

GLUVKLENER makes soiled gloves new, removes great from all fabrics; 7d., free.—Gluvklener Co., Glouceste: HOW TO SING CORRECTLY, without teachers; wonder ful scientific secrets; marvellous results guaranteed.—Write free book immediately, 1249, "Daily Mirror," 45

MARVEL Eyelash Oil; only 1s.—Mrs. Seymour, 124, New

OLD Artificial Teeth bought; call or forward by post, full value per return, or offer made.—Messrs. M. Browning, Manufacturing Dentists, 135, Oxford-st, London (Estab. 100 years).

100 years).

RIGWORM Permanently Curod; use Portor's Specific, proceedings of the child, youth, adult; 1s. 3d. and 2s. 9d. bottle, post free in plan) package.—Porter and Co., Ely, Cambs.

RUFFURE.—Colvell's new Soft Band Trus; perfect common for the present excess, effective where all other treatment has failed; write to-day for illustrated Catalogue, free.—Colvell, 116. Novington-causewer, Dodon. S.E. co.—Colewell, 116, Newinglon-canseway, London, S.E.

ZGEENCE SIPTINGS "asy high-priced teeth are a regen-benta, of 7, High Holbert, London, W.G. (appa regen-benta, C. (appa regen-benta) and the service of the servi

Daily Bargains.

NOTICE. — When replying to advertisements addressed to the "Daily Mirror" Office no remittance should be enclosed in the first instance.

A RABV'S Complete Outsit, 58 articles, 21s. 6d.; robe, development, and development, financia, petitionat, pilches, head square.—Era, 160, Larchall-lane, Clapham.

A world of Old Flat.

B ARGALAN.—Gractiching, 10s. 6d, parcel, 3 chemises, 10s. 6d.—Era, 160, Larchall-lane, Clapham.

B ARGAN.—UNDERINEN. 9s. parcel.—6, Ladies' Chemises, whickers, petitionate; 3 beautiful night-fresses, where the control of Old Flat.

B ARGALAN.—UNDERINEN. 9s. parcel.—6, Ladies' Chemises, whickers, petitionate; 3 beautiful night-fresses, where the control of Old Flat.

COSTUME to measure, 42s,—Marsh, Tailors, 47, Whit-comb-st, Piccadilly-circus.

BARGAIN; dainty muslin Blouse (trimmed), 1s 6d.—Madame, 36, High-rd, Balham, London.

DAILY BARGAINS.

Miscollancous.

A RTISTIC Crystoleum coloured Miniatures set in penA dants, brooches, etc., from 2s. #4; new permanent process from any photo; photos returned minjured; sample sent.—Ariston, 1s, Queen-st, Cheapaule, London. (Agents walked oversystem).

A RTISTIC Photo Postcards of yourself, 2s. dozen.—Sen photo for free sample Varenir, 26, North John-st Livernool.

BARGAIN.—Ten-guinea Service, silver, hall-marked Tables, 12 desert knives, pair cavrers and steel; elegantly mounted, tvoy handler; amoulted; sacrifice, 27s, 6d., approval willingly.—Mrs. Major Bradshaw, 55, Handfortheid, S.W.

CHARMING coloured Miniatures from any photograph.
1s.; in silver pendant, 1s. 6d.; gold, 5s.; samples sent.
Chapman, Artist, Swansea.

DIAMONDS.—Three splendid Rings, Diamond Pin pledged; cannot redeem; sacrifice vouchers 25s.; urgent Beta, 102, Gayford-rd. W.

HISI Kaires and Ports; handsome 4-guines case, 6 pairs, all-on-ried, mounted, root handles; unused; accept 16s, 6d; companion case Desserts; 16s, 6d; clauded; 2-guines case Fish Carvers; 8s, 6d; approval.—M. E., 31, Clapham-cd.

Clapham-rd.

FURNITURE; rich saddle-bag suite, handsome square carpet pattern lino, rug, pretty table, and vases; £6 10s., or 2s. 5d. week.—Hind. 97. Wiesbaden-rd. Stoke Newington.

JAPANESE Arms-stand, Weapons, Curios, for sale suitable hall decorations.—Roberts, 18, North Audley

GREAT ANNUAL SALE

COMMENCES ON

Monday Next. July IIth.

BARGAINS WILL BE OFFERED DURING THE FIRST WEEK OF SALE.

COATS.

Model Fawn Coats, trimmed Lace and Velvet. 39/6 each; worth

TUSSORE SKIRTS.

50 Tussore Silk Dress Skirts, trimmed Tucks, Frills, and Lace Insertion. 9/II; usual price, 21/-

BLOUSES.

White Japanese Slip Blouses. 6/II. Very special.

NIGHTDRESSES.

6 doz. only Nightdresses, made with a pretty square neck, trimmed Lace, an exceptional bargain.

STOLES

A few white Marabout Stoles, 7 and 8 rows wide, three yards long. 18/9; worth double.

47 Ostrich and Marabout Stoles in Black, White, Champagne, Grey, Brown, and Natural. 21/-each; many worth double.

50 pairs Hemstitched Sheets for double beds. 12/II; worth 16/II pair

BEDSPREADS.

80 Irish Hand-embroidered White Bedspreads for double beds. 12/II and 16/II; worth 16/II and 22/II.

BOARDMAN & SONS

54-70. Broadway . STRATFORD. .

BEATALL" Bargains, 1s. 3d. parcels, white Cambric or best Damask remnants; trade supplied.—" Beat-all. Residen.

BLOUSES mode, helies materials; excellent cut, fit.

BLOUSES monaits delly—Miss Course, Rushden, fit.

Brouses, Stritz, Bloness, New Summer Catalogue, just, being resident one immediately, post free; skylish Blones presented to new customers; write for particlars, don't miss opportunity.—Wynne Bros., 15a, Bridgewater-sq., London.

doff, nils opportunity.—Wynne Bres., 15a, Bridgewaters, London.

DUNING Linen direct from Ireland ensures genuins qualities and lowest prices; special Joly price and control of the price of the price and Co. No. 28 Warenouse, Youngari, hate fashion-control of the Company of the C PETTICOATS, Corsets, Costumes, Blouses, fashionable dresses; parcels purchased.—35, Lorn-rd, Brixton.

VOILE Dress Length; manufacturer's bankruptcy stock; full dress length; rich black, 9s. 6d.; worth 3s. 11d. vard: approval.—Emanuel. 31. Clapham-rd.

LADY'S 2-guinea new silk Umbrella, 10s. 6d.; 7in. silver handle, richly embossed; Paragon frame; approval.—S. U., 55, Handforth-rd, S.W. S. U., 55, Handforth-rd, S.W.

LARGE Assortment of new and second-hand Leather
Trunks to be sold cheap.—Wenter, 107, Charing Cross

PATCHWORK; 200 large silk pieces 1s. 4d.; sample 100 9d.—George, 33, Oxford-rd, Lower Edmonton.

READING Cases (useful and handsome); will hold six copies of the "Daily Mirror"; Is. each, post free 1s. 3d.—Postal orders to 2, Carmelite-st, London, E.C. SIX Hand-drawn Pictorial Postcards; P.O. 1s.—Cowell, 77, Elms-rd. Clapham.

Butler Bros., Clevedon.

TEN GUINEA SERVICE, Al quality, silver-plated on mickel silver; Spoons and Forks, 12 cach table and dessert spoons and forks; also tcaspoons (60 pieces); unsolited; sacrifice 32, 6d.; half quantity, 16s. 6d.; approval.—Matron, 68, Stockwell-rd, 8.W.

9D. will buy 3s, 6d, worth of artistic Picture Postcards sent free; no rubbish or common ones.—Publisher, 6 Grafton-so Clanham.

18 ARTISTIC PICTURE POSTCARDS, assorted, post free, 61d.—Pritchard and Co., 225, High-rd, Ilford.

DAILY BARGAINS.

O. DAVIS, PAWNBROKER.

26. DENMARK-HILL LONDON.
GREAT CLEARANCE SALE.—FULL LIST POST FREE

10/6. CENT ON APPLICATION.
10/6. CENT

22 38. Three together, accritice 10s. 5d. Approval servers by the Control of the gether, sacrifice, 10s. ed., worth £2 2s. Approval before payment.

19/6. LESS WATCH, jewelled 10 rubies, richly eagraved case, plendid timekeper, 10 years warranty, weeks trial. Sacrifice, 19s. ed. ed. 5s. SERVICE SHEFFIELD 10/6. HANDER, 12 these knives, Carvert, and Steel; Crayford 1voy balanced handles; uncolled; sacrifice 19s. ed., approval before payment.

8/6. CURB CHAIN PAILOCK BRACELET, 18-carat, 8s. ed. Approval before payment.

8/6. HANDEOME LONG NECK-CHAIN, genuine 18-carat gold (stamped) filled, choice design, in Morocco case, 8s. 6d., approval before payment.

MARKETING BY POST.

A —A DAINTY DRESS PARCEL for 50s; a marvel of an for patterns; 0s. 6d. deposit, balance 1s. weekly; write no for patterns; no security or reference required. 7d. and 7d. 0ld Kent-rd, 8.E. The prices charged will only sllow us to supply London and the suburbs.

A SPECIAL OFFER. -2 large chickens, 3s. 6d., 3 ditto A for 5a; large roasting Fowls, 4s, 6d. pair; large Duckings, 5s. pair; London orders, cash on deliver, so that customers may inspect the value before paying.—Jones, 423, Central Market. Telephono 2200 Central.

A BECGIAL POULTRY OFFER BY MAPLES and CO.

RIGHT STATE OF THE STATE OF

DAIRY PRODUCE—Fresh, thick, Pasteurised green belotted cream, Patteurised fresh, Pasteurised green belotted from the pattern of the pattern o

Motcombe, Dorsét.

JIMEST TABLE POULTRY.—Send P.O. Central Market.

Supply, 25. Farringdon-st, Smithfield, London, for 28 large finest, quality Spring Chickens, 4s. 2 extra large de, 2d.; 2 large boiling Fowls, 5s. 6d.; 2 large boiling Fowls, 5s. 6d.; 2 finest Aylesburg Docks, 5s. 6d. All trussed. Carriage paid.

MAPLES and CO, supply Most and Poultry direct to con-sumer at wholesale pricer; price list on application, Special: 2 Fowls, trussed, delivered free in town or country on receipt of P.O. 4s.—All communications to Maples and Co. 2 Retail Offices, Cloth Fair, Smithfield, E.C.

Co.'s Rekail Offices, Cloth Fair, Smithfield, E.C.

POULTRY.—H. PEAKE is the PIONEER of high-class
POULTRY.—THERE PROPERTY.

THERE FIRE PROPERTY. Clotherns for 5s.

TWO Large Specially-fatted Powls, for 5s.

TWO Large Specially-fatted Powls, for 5s.

TWO Large Fines Quality Chickens, 4s.

H. PEAKE, 402-405, Central Markets, London. Tel 6762

Central.

SAVE HALF YOUR BUTCHER BILLS and buy direct from the farmers—Best English meat: Matton, Ioins, saddies, and shoulders, per lot, 74d.; lees, 8d.; beef, silveside, 74d. tuy bids, 8dd., silvon and ribs, 63dd; rump side, 74d. tuy bids, 64d., silvon and ribs, 63dd; rump vals and pork, prime joints, 8dd., orders of 4d. free delivered;
hampers free; cash on delivery—The Direct Supply Stores, 14d, 6, 16dbern-circus, London.

CHA. OF INFORMER ALLES ON rail one hour after picking; dessert to 4d, preserving 3d, per lb., in 6, 10, 12lb. baskets or yver; carriage paid; cash with order.—O. Taylor and Co., Great Norwood-st, Cheltenham.

STRAWBERRIES, 10lbs., 3s.; Currants, Red, 3s. 6d.; Black, 4s. 6d.; Gooseberries, 2s.; Raspberries, 4s. 6d.; cash only.—King, Philipscote, Evesham.

WILLIAM BOWRON'S NEW DEPARTURE.

OPENING of DEPOTS at Met. By Stations.

Opening of Depot at Harrow Station, Metropolitan Railway (in Booking Hall). Tele. 1,008, Harrow. London prices. Families called upon daily for order.

Opening of a new Depot at Finchley of Station, Metropolitan Railway. Available to public without tickets.

WILLIAM BOWRON'S

Finest Cornish Butter, Is, Ib; finest Lombardy Fresh
Butter, Is, Ib; finest Lombardy Fresh
Butter, Is, Cornish Cream, per 2s, 3d, quart; large jar, ditter, Is, Cornish Cream, per 2s, 3d, quart; large jar, ditter, Ss, 6d, per couple, large large, is, as, 6d, and 6s, per Langlish Goolins, from 4s, 6d, 1 Ducks, from 2s, 9d, large, Hares, 2s, 6d; White Grouse, Is, seach; English Ducklings, from 3s, 6d.

HAMPERS.

from 5s. 6d.

HAMPERS.

HA

Dainty hampers for 5s. 6d. contain: (1) 2 White Grouse and Chickens Chickens. (c) is and upwards carriage paid United Kingdom Cash with order. Trussing optional. WILLIAM BOWRON (bpt. M.), 279-281, Edgware-ed, WILLIAM BOWRON (bpt. M.), 279-281, Edgware-ed, WILLIAM SOWRON (bpt. M.), 279-281, Edgware-ed, WILLIAM SOWRON (bpt. M.), 279-281, Edgware-ed, WILLIAM SOWRON, 280-281, Edgware-ed, 281, John swood (breat North-cran and Milliand Platform). Tolograms "Anything, London. Telephones, 5, Eddington.

PETS, LIVE STOCK, AND VEHICLES.

COFFEE-VAN and utensils; 4-wheel, lock-up; nearly new; £8 or near offer.—2, Deacon-rd, Kingston-on-Thames.

Advertisements under the headings:

vertisements under the headings:
Houses and Properties.
Partnerships and Financial.
Holiday Apartments To Let and Wanted.
Board-Residence and Apartments.
Musical Instruments.
Educational.
Motors and Cycles.

Appear on page 2. cinted and Published by THE PICTORIAL NEWSPAPER CO., LTD., at 2, Carmelite-street, E.C.—Wednesday, July 6, 1904.